BRITISH SHIP RESCUES FOUR FROM WATERS

Convey Captain Courtney and Mates to New York After
Answering S O S Call

FORCED DOWN BY FIRE

Failure One of Long Series of Misfortunes in Last 18
Months for Flyer

New York—(AP)—Rescued in mid-Atlantic, Captain Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, and three companions Friday were proceeding to New York aboard the British liner Minnaska.

They were forced down while attempting a flight from Horta, Azores, New Foundland. They had proceeded approximately 60 miles on their flight. With their short wave radio apparatus they sent out S O S calls which sent several ships rushing to their assistance. The Minnaska won the race of mercy and took the fliers aboard.

"Rescued Captain Courtney and crew from plane. All well," Captain Claret of the Minnaska telegraphed to the Radio Marine Corporation late Thursday afternoon when fears were beginning to be felt that the plane had sunk and the fliers were lost.

The International Mercantile Marine also received a message from the captain of the Minnaska telling of the rescue and saying the ship was proceeding to New York with all speed. No further details were given.

The Minnaska is due to dock at New York Monday morning.

For nearly ten hours Courtney and his three companions, E. D. Hosmer, Montreal banker, of the flight, E. W. Gilmore, radio operator, and Fred Pierce, mechanic, had been drifting helplessly in a strong current.

SHIFTED POSITIONS

The President Hayes was the first to reach the latitude and longitude Captain Courtney had given and when she reported no sign of the fliers, fears arose. The silence of their radio, not heard for hours, added to the fears. Then came the message, giving the plane's new position and a short time later word from the Minnaska that she had sighted flying boat named the Whale. The message telling of the rescue came an hour later.

The failure which attended Captain Courtney's latest effort to fly the Atlantic is only one of a long series of misfortunes which have dogged his footsteps for eighteen months, ever since he first announced his plans to fly the Atlantic.

All last summer he vainly attempted to make a direct flight from England to Newfoundland, but adverse weather forced him to turn back. He was then forced to make a detour to the Azores, and at the end of the war had an enviable record for encounters with the German airmen. After the war he became a test pilot for airplane manufacturers. In 1923 he won the king's cup after two previous unsuccessful endeavors. Since then he has performed other notable services to aviation in trying out new devices. He was severely injured early in 1927 while testing a new type autogyro plane.

London—(AP)—Fire aboard his plane forced Captain Frank T. Courtney to land on the Atlantic, he informed his wife Friday in a message sent from the liner Minnaska. The liner rescued Courtney and his three companions on an attempt to fly to America from the Azores.

The Evening News received a wireless message from the commander of the steamship Otis, announcing, "Minnaska reports plane crew rescued. No injuries. Plane abandoned."

Los Angeles, Calif. — (AP)—Dorothy McKail, motion picture actress, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce here Friday from Lothar Mendes, director. She charged cruelty. They were married a little more than a year ago in New York.

SPEND DOZEN MILLIONS IN FALL CAMPAIGN

Huge Sums of Money Will Be Expended to Elect Occupant of White House

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1928 Post Pub Co.

New York—Conservative estimates by veteran campaigners now place the probable total that will be spent in the presidential campaign at well above $12,000,000.

The Republican national committee has called for a budget of $4,000,000. This will be matched by the Democrats. Thus a total of at least $8,000,000 will be spent by the two national committees.

Then there are the state organizations which will directly spend their money for state tickets but much of it will go for the benefit of the national nominees. Allowing only $2,000,000 in each case for the state organizations, the total is quickly brought to the $12,000,000 mark.

It must be remembered, however, that there are always organizations and clubs independent of either the national or state committees. A Smith-Hughes fund composed of the Republican business men or a Hoover-for-president organization consisting of Democrats will be formed respectively in many cities. These organizations are by no means developed to evade responsibility on the part of the major national committees but to permit voters to express their preference and attribute money to a political mechanism which is distinctly personal and does not involve affiliation with a political party.

Several of these clubs will spend in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 each to coast in the interest of both candidates. Entirely apart from these personal admiration organizations are those which are based on some principle or issue as the Anti Saloon League and affiliated church organizations. It is estimated that at least another million dollars will be spent by such institutions so that a campaign fund reaching $15,000,000 is not impossible, though $12,000,000 is being accepted as more probable.

Governor Cox of Ohio charged in 1920 that a campaign fund above $10,000,000 was being raised to elect Senator Harding and he felt then that such waste of farm legislation along the lines of the McNary-Haagen bill which President Coolidge vetoed.

To press their advantage, the Democrats intend to perfect a regional campaign organization, designed to bring such agricultural states as Iowa, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Illinois and others into line for the Smith-Robinson ticket. Headquarters probably will be in Chicago, and the personnel of the directing committee will be announced soon.

Plans of the Democrats to wage a finish fight in the corn and wheat belt, which usually goes Republican in presidential years, were disclosed Thursday by Chairman Raskob of the national committee after Peek, on the heels of a conference on the farm ques-

BLAZE CAUSES $225,000 LOSS IN EDGERTON

Seven Streams of Water Keep Fire Confined to One Building in Business Block

Edgerton—(AP)—A spectacular fire caused damage of $225,000 to a three-story building in the business district here early Friday.

The building of brick, in which were located several shops, the Shearer clinic and the Monarch laboratories, manufacturers of medicinal preparations, was destroyed and the outside walls were cracked.

The fire department from Janesville aided the local department in keeping the flames confined to the building. Seven streams of water were played on the structure.

Quenching of the flames was made difficult by the presence in the laboratory section of the building of large quantities of alcohol and other inflammable chemicals.

The fire of unknown origin was believed to have started at about 1 a. m. It was first discovered at 2 a. m., when a general alarm was turned in. Medical equipment in the clinic offices constituted one of the largest losses. An X-ray machine valued at between $30,000 and $50,000 was ruined when the fire-weakened floor on which it was standing collapsed. Insurance only partially covered the loss, which for the building itself excluding property in it was estimated at $165,000.

WHERE KAUKAUNA AUTOIST WAS KILLED

This photograph shows the wreckage of the new sedan in which Earnest Sasnowski, 34, Kaukauna, was killed Wednesday night when the car was struck by a Chicago and Northwestern passenger train at the intersection of Kaukauna. The car, with Sasnowski inside, was carried almost 600 feet and it was necessary to chop it apart to get out his body. A huge splinter of wood passed completely through him. John Urfan, Kaukauna, who stalled the car on the track in front of the approaching train, escaped with minor injuries, and August Nimmers and his 3-year old son jumped out of the rear door before the train hit them.

Mead Asks Curb Of Power Monopoly And Constructive Farm Relief Program

Wisconsin Rapids—(AP)—George W. Mead, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, opened his campaign here Thursday night with a speech in which he asked curbing of the so-called "power monopoly" and adoption of a constructive farm relief program. He supported the Republican platform on the wet and dry issues, endorsed collective bargaining regarding labor disputes and favored the St. Lawrence waterway project.

"Blind allegiance to a political party is by all means to be avoided," Mr. Mead's speech said, "but party cooperation is necessary as our government is now conducted. I am a Republican but I do not adhere to that party without a strong administration from its leaders. I support Mr. Hoover and Mr. Curtis and hope they will be elected."

"Power monopoly," he said, "must be curbed and controlled. The interests of the people must be guarded. The effort of those who desire power monopoly to secretly buy or influence public officials, educators and others in order to control public opinion should be condemned."

Mr. Mead, opposing Senator Robert M. La Follette in the race, said that he believed Wisconsin should send to Washington a man who is capable of interpreting the "Wisconsin Spirit."

He asked that the state select as its representative a man who will "labor in a constructive and cooperative way with the senators from the other states."

"HOOVER SUITS STATE"

Turning to Herbert Hoover, he characterized him as a "true progressive" who "truly represents this Wisconsin spirit of public service." And "his tailor-made suit suits Wisconsin's viewpoint."

Discussing farm relief, Mr. Mead said that "a combination of interest including a program of cooperation analogous to collective bargaining of labor appears to offer a partial remedy."

That his campaign is "independent of any political faction within the Republican party of Wisconsin" was emphasized by Mr. Mead.

Wisconsin Rapids—Curbing of the so-called power monopoly, adherence to the platform of the republican party on the wet and dry issue, an endorsement of collective bargaining regarding labor problems, favoring of the St. Lawrence waterway project, and standing for the adoption of a constructive farm relief bill, George W. Mead, mayor of Wisconsin Rapids and candidate for the United States senate, gave his initial campaign speech in his home city tonight.

APPROPRIATION OF WINNEBAGO BOARD DECLARED ILLEGAL

Madison—(AP)—An appropriation of $5,000 made by the Winnebago board to the district attorney for investigation of books and records of county officials is illegal, the attorney general has informed Frank B. Kiefe, district attorney.

Counties must first make debts and then make appropriations with which to pay them, the opinion holds.

It suggests that the proper way to handle the proposed audit is to have it done, and then make provisions for payment. If it is found necessary to prosecute anyone, the district attorney may conduct the case without instruction from the county board.

The board had adopted a resolution charging it had evidence that money was paid out of the county treasury illegally, and that certain officials have committed malfeasance in office.

BULLETIN

Lorient, France—(AP)—A plane expected to be the Polish trans-Atlantic machine, Marshal Mikolajski, was sighted 60 miles off the French coast by the traveler Panamair at 5:10 a. m. about three hours after it had left Le Bourget on a flight to the United States. Lorient is 300 miles from Le Bourget.

Le Bourget, France—(AP)—Two Polish knights of the air sped westward with the dawn Friday hoping to make the first non-stop east to west flight to New York from France.

Majors Louis Idzikowski and Kazimierz Kubala of the Polish Air service hopped off at 5:45 A. M. Paris daylight time (11:45 p. m. Thursday, Eastern standard time) in their plane christened Marzalek, Pilsnisk in honor of the Polish nation.

The plane expected to land at New York on Saturday afternoon after a flight of from 5,000 to 4,000 miles, depending on the route followed. A strong northeasterly breeze wafted them on their course which led southward over the Atlantic.

The airman circled widely around the Paris suburbs and signaled to working planes that all was going well by waving their wings. The Polish plane seemed to be flying smoothly and powerfully.

"Night" was the last word Idzikowski spoke to friends. This Russian expression equivalent to "Good night" seemed to sum up the attitude of the fliers toward the hazardous adventure. They took no nap and took only precaution for safety was a collapsible rubber boat, which they said, would probably prove useless if they crashed.

Idzikowski, wearing a leather coat over street clothes, climbed into the plane and waved his wings toward the navigators port behind. One slight accident delayed the start when an oil reservoir filled too full and overflowed, drenching the pilot's seat. Six mechanics rapidly squeezed off the big plane as if it were a racehorse before a great test.

When the start was made the aviators were ready to give their utmost but they realized success was in the hands of the gods. Kubala was cool and practical in the last minute. Idzikowski, who had the task of taking off with an eighteen engine-plane with a single 450-horsepower motor was very white in the face as he pulled down his goggles and hunched over the controls.

GREAT TAKEOFF

With the motor roaring and spitting red and blue flames, the fliers gave a last wave of their hands and started the plane trundling down the field accompanied by cries of encouragement. As the engine got up speed and began to bound over the uneven field it seemed that the plane would never rise from the ground with its heavy load.

"They'll never make it," cried numerous "lean military aviators and naval fliers."

Idzikowski, however, threw himself into the work and brought the plane off in a masterly fashion appearing to just miss the roofs of the military hangars.

"Formidable!" exclaimed Captain Carter in charge of the military camp.

The take off was so swift that M.

HOOVER PUTS FINAL TOUCH ON BIG TALK

Republicans Await Nominee's
Views on Important Issues,
Farm, Prohibition

Stanford University, Calif.—(AP)—Behind the thick oak door which shuts off the study in his hillside home here, Herbert Hoover devoted Friday to putting the finishing touches to the most momentous address of his career, that of accepting the Republican nomination for president.

In this address, to be delivered in the Stanford stadium one week from Saturday, he will present his views on the two most important issues of the campaign, prohibition, and farm relief, and mention other issues which he believes must have their weight in the scales by which the voters will measure the candidates on Nov. 6.

As important as Hoover's pronouncement was to his country, it was also a difficult one, for he will study his address for something more for those things which will reflect his personality and disclose to the nation his philosophy of government. Since this is Hoover's first adventure upon the highway to elective office, leaders of his party frankly say that these things will be of high importance.

Before getting down to his work after his arrival home Thursday, Hoover conferred with two party leaders, Dante Pierce of Des Moines, Iowa, publisher of farm weeklies, and Nathan William Matthews of Chicago, who has been charged with the duty of perfecting state and county organizations in all states west of Ohio, under the direction of James W. Good of Iowa, western manager in the Republican campaign organization.

Here he declined to state specifically the matters he had taken up with the candidate, but he discussed at some length the visits made to Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential candidate, by George N. Peck, of Missouri, Ill., chairman of the corn belt committee of twenty-two. Pierce declared that the farmers of the mid-west never would let their party descend to "Tammany Hall" and said that Peck is and always has been a Democrat. He indicated his own belief that Peck would be unable to swing any large number of farm votes to the Democratic ticket.

Behnke Gets Long Term In State Prison

Young Appleton Lawyer Sentenced After Pleading Guilty of Embezzlement

C. E. Behnke, former Appleton attorney and referee in bankruptcy, pleaded guilty to two embezzlement counts in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Thursday afternoon and was sentenced to serve from 14 months to 4 years in state prison at Waupun.

Disbarment proceedings started against Behnke several months ago when he left Appleton to complete the case in under advisement with the chief justice of the Wisconsin supreme court, according to District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf.

Behnke was arrested in Chicago several weeks ago on a charge of cashing three forged mortgage certificates and appropriating the money to his own use. He fought extradition when arrested in Chicago but after a hearing before Governor Len Small at Springfield, Ill., at which Stanley A. Staid, assistant district attorney, represented the state, the papers were issued and he was returned to Appleton. Since that time he has been held in the county jail in default of $5,000 bonds.

After a conference with prosecuting witnesses, Mr. Lonsdorf and Mr. Staid decided to place the charges of embezzlement against him in addition to the forgery charges.

Waiving preliminary hearing in municipal court, Behnke pleaded not guilty to the charges of forgery but guilty to the charges of embezzlement.

Mr. Lonsdorf told the court that the first embezzlement charge involved $1,700 and the second $2,100. Interest on the two sums brought the total to about $4,000.

The forgery charges are to be dropped. Mr. Lonsdorf said Friday morning.

Judge Heinemann ruled that the sentence was to start at noon Thursday. Behnke will be eligible to parole after half his term is served, Mr. Lonsdorf said.

Fred Stone Injured In Plane Fall

Comedian Suffers Crushed Leg, Head and Face Injuries, in Nose Dive

New London, Conn.—(AP)—Fred Stone, comedian, is in a hospital here suffering from a badly crushed right leg and injuries to his face and head received when a Travelair biplane in which he was flying solo, crashed near the Groton airport when its engine went dead.

Stone had been in the air ten minutes and was returning to the flying field when the motor stopped. The plane went into a nose dive. Stone was flying low at the time and was unable to right the plane and it continued on down, burying its nose in the ground. Stone was pinned in the wreckage until persons living in the vicinity and who had seen the fall reached the spot and helped him to extricate himself.

BULGARIAN RULER BURNED HELPING TO FIGHT FOREST FIRE

Sofia, Bulgaria—(AP)—King Boris was burned on the forehead and hands when personally fighting the flames in a series of forest fires which have been ravaging the Tshankore district. The king's daughter, Princess Eudokia, has likewise been fighting the fires.

The king's injuries are not regarded as serious.

The fires have caused great damage but no lives have been lost.

Last Minute Bulletins

Escanaba, Mich.—(AP)—With the arrest of four men and a search on for two more, police believe they have solved a series of more than 30 robberies and holdups in northern Wisconsin and the upper Michigan peninsula.

Two of the men under arrest are from Marinette, Wis. Two other men are being sought.

The gang entered 12 homes in Gladstone last week; held up one Escanaba store with rifles, and robbed another store of $300 worth of clothing, watches and other articles.

Berlin—(AP)—Dispatches from Bromberg report that twelve Lithuanian soldiers were killed and 100 injured in the explosion of a Lithuanian munition depot at the town of Okty on the Polish-Lithuanian frontier.

Iowa State Reformatory, Anamosa, Iowa—(AP)—Clarence Lukehart, 21, Friday confessed the murder of Harvey Boyd, 8-year-old Omaha boy.

He made the confession after an all-morning grilling by Warden J. M. Baumel.

RENEW INVESTIGATION OF DROWNING OF GIRL

La Crosse—(AP)—The investigation into the death of Florence Storing, 12, was renewed Friday under the impetus of a county board appropriation of $100 Thursday. Three county experts will assist the sheriff and district attorney in the investigation as a result of the body's action.

Single Posies Help To Cheer Hospital Patients

Every one who sees a single wildflower growing in a crevice in a sidewalk or growing on a single blade of grass on a large bush, surely is beautiful because they are alone aren't they? If they had companions no one flower would be noticed, just like a department store display window cluttered with everything from raincoats to handkerchiefs never attracts attention.

There are several patients at the hospital who would appreciate a single bouquet of flowers, just as much as the nature lover would a single violet in a bed of green. They have no flowers, and the advent of even a single rose into their room would be a source of American Beauty to the average patient.

In preparation for the Post-Crescent flower show, which opens every Saturday morning, don't feel that you have to strip your garden of a few carefully chosen posies will often stir the heart of a lonesome patient at night, or a whole household of flowers.

Call 542 for the Appleton flower cases, which carry cheer to the patients at the Elizabeth hospital; Neenah, 24, at Menasha, 212 for flowers for the Grace Clark hospital; and Kaukauna, 40 or 238, Little Chute 55, or Kimberly 23 for flowers for the Riverside Sanatorium.

Appleton's New Traffic Code Says:---

Section 10-17. At intersections where traffic is directed by a traffic or police officer, or by a traffic "stop" and "go" signal, it shall be unlawful for any pedestrian to cross a street against traffic signals and the penalty is a fine of not more than $50.

This section of the ordinance also forbids pedestrians to stand on the sidewalk in such manner as to interfere with traffic. This is designed to give the police power to arrest, street corner loafers and to break up knots of pedestrians who use the streets for visiting purposes. The penalty for violation of this section is a fine of not more than $50.

Democrats, Aided By Peek, Prepare Farm Vote Battle

New York—(AP)—The Democrats are out to capture states in the upper Mississippi valley, and with a well planned organization they intend to challenge the Republicans for every inch of ground in that farming territory.

As Governor Smith's followers see it, they already have made a dent in the lines of the opposition by enlisting the support of George N. Peck, of Illinois, supporter of Lowden for the Republican presidential nomination, and champion of farm legislation along the lines of the McNary-Haagen bill which President Coolidge vetoed.

To press their advantage, the Democrats intend to perfect a regional campaign organization, designed to bring such agricultural states as Iowa, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Illinois and others into line for the Smith-Robinson ticket. Headquarters probably will be in Chicago, and the personnel of the directing committee will be announced soon.

Plans of the Democrats to wage a finish fight in the corn and wheat belt, which usually goes Republican in presidential years, were disclosed Thursday by Chairman Raskob of the national committee after Peek, on the heels of a conference on the farm question with Smith, announced that he had bolted the Republican party.

Peek, in a statement, in which he assailed Herbert Hoover and declared it was not necessary to wait for his acceptance speech to establish that he was no true friend to the farmer, said he was convinced Smith, if elected, would solve the farm problem "with intellectual honesty."

Smith also reiterated that, if chosen president, he would consult farm leaders and economists during the winter to formulate a concrete farm relief program, and he declared that in disregarding party lines in seeking advice he would enlist the aid of Lowden of Illinois.

In many quarters here Friday this pledge of Smith, although he made no reference in his statement to the equalization fee which Lowden and Peck have championed, was regarded as significant.

The plan of the Democrats to wage battle for the farming states was disclosed as Gov. Smith was spending the last of the week in New York. After his conference Thursday with Peek, he went on a cruise into Long Island sound on the yacht of his friend, William H. Todd.

CLOSE BATTLE IN SOUTHERN PRIMARY

Present Tennessee Governor Leads Rival by 2,000 Votes

Nashville, Tenn., (AP)—Tennessee's Democratic gubernatorial race the most hotly contested of all in the campaign preceding Thursday's state wide primaries held first place in interest Friday as it resolved into a nip and tuck race between Gov. Henry H. Horton and Hill McAlister.

With 1,694 of the state's 2,430 precincts reported the unofficial returns showed: Horton 78,441; McAlister 76,267.

In the Democratic senatorial contest, Senator Kenneth D. McKellar raced far ahead of the first of four opponents piling up a plurality of almost 37,000 over Representative Finis Garrett in returns from 1,670 precincts.

Mayor James A. Fowler of Knoxville had no opposition for the Republican senatorial nomination.

All of the congressional incumbents were leading in the three districts in which there were contests.

PLACE ELECTRIC WATER COOLER IN COURTHOUSE

A new electric water cooler, whose purchase was authorized by the county board building and grounds committee several months ago, was being installed in the lower corridor at the courthouse Friday morning.

The machine cost $325 and was bought from the Art-Killgren Electric company. The machine is manufactured by the General Electric company and will replace the old water cooler which had to be filled with ice each day. With the old cooler it was necessary to purchase water in huge bottles and also to purchase cups for those wanting a drink. If the electric cooler proves satisfactory it is possible that two more similar but smaller sized coolers will be bought to replace the old type coolers on the second and third floors of the building.

CONDITION OF MAN IN ACCIDENT IS IMPROVED

The condition of John Urban, Kaukauna, injured Thursday night when the car in which he was riding was struck by a Chicago and Northwestern railroad passenger train at Kaukauna, was very good Friday according to the attending physician and he will be able to leave St. Elizabeth hospital within the next week.

Earnest Sasnowski, Kaukauna, owner of the car, was killed in the accident. Urban was driving the car which stalled on the tracks in front of the train. He jumped just as the train struck the car and was bruised and cut about the head and body.

JUSTICE AT KAUKAUNA DISMISSES DAMAGE SUIT

A damage suit for $50 brought by Mrs. John Larcheb, DePere, against Arthur Roberts, Kaukauna, was dismissed by Judge Elliot Zekind in justice court at Kaukauna Friday morning when the judge held that both parties were negligent in the automobile accident from which the suit grew.

Mrs. Larcheb brought the suit as the result of a collision between her automobile and one driven by Roberts at Freedom on May 28. She charged Roberts drove negligently and therefore should pay the damages caused to her car. After the judge gave his decision Mrs. Larcheb said she intended to carry the case to a higher court.

FOND DU LAC MAN IS FINED $10 AND COSTS

Joseph H. Cassidy, Fond du Lac, entered a plea of nolle contendere to a charge of reckless driving in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Friday morning and was fined $10 and costs. Cassidy was arrested last week by Officers Carl Radtke and Gus Hershorn after they had followed the car and saw it going from one side of the road to the other. Cassidy told the judge he wasn't guilty and wouldn't plead guilty but rather than wait until the case could be tried he would pay the fine because his time was valuable.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Unsettled in northwest portion. Thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight in east and south portions somewhat cooler tonight; partly cloudy, possibly showers in extreme southeast, cooler Saturday in south and extreme east.

GENERAL WEATHER

Weather conditions have changed but little since yesterday. Atmospheric pressure is still low from the Great Lakes southwestward to Texas. Precipitation has been rather heavy during the past 24 hours over Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, while showers have fallen over the middle Mississippi valley. Temperatures are slightly above normal over the eastern portion of the country but remain moderately cool over the Great Plains states.

Conditions are favorable for thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight, followed by mostly cloudy weather Saturday night in Appleton and vicinity. Somewhat cooler weather is in prospect for tonight and Saturday.

Mother City Of Australia Is Host To Eucharistic Congress This Year

The Eucharistic Congress in September will give many American visitors an opportunity to view the beauties of Sydney, Australia. Above is Sydney harbor and below is Railway Square. The Most Rev. Dr. Kelley, archbishop of Sydney, will receive the distinguished guests.

SYDNEY, Australia.—(AP)—American visitors to the Eucharistic Congress, to be held here from September six to nine, will see a beautiful modern city which has been developed from pioneer traditions not unlike those of their own great metropolitan centers.

Sydney, the mother city of Australia, was founded 150 years ago. It now has a population of 1,200,000 and is spread over an area of 550 square miles, from Broken bay, the Hawkesbury river and Pittwater on the north to Botany bay on the south. Botany bay is the birthplace of modern Australia, for at this point Captain Cook landed April 28, 1770 and hoisted the first British flag on Australian soil.

The natural beauty of the city is considered incomparable by many. From its northern boundaries it stretches across elevated plateaus, in some places rising to a height of 700 feet to Botany bay, its southern boundary. This area is broken almost centrally by Sydney harbor, often called the most beautiful harbor in the world. Headland after headland, of maroon, brown and gold colored sandstone, clad with luxuriant gray-green vegetation, pierce the blue waters of the Pacific, which break in foam upon a series of golden sand beaches far below.

As the traveler approaches Sydney, by way of the heads of Port Jackson, he sees why Captain Cook at first sailed by the harbor. The heads rise perpendicularly from the sea to a height of more than 150 feet and it is only after passing through a break in the outer cliffs that an inner passage is disclosed, unfolding into a wonderful vista of bays, islands, beaches and headlands. The shore line of this magnificent harbor is 183 miles long.

Eight picturesque small islands lie on the harbor, the most interesting of which is Fort Denison, where a quaint little fort, erected in 1854 for Russian resistance to a threatened Russian invasion during the Crimean war, still stands. Its primitive cannon fires a daily welcome to incoming vessels.

The harbor is spanned from Dawes point to Milson's Point by an arch bridge 3,770 feet long, which is still under construction.

The city itself is thoroughly up-to-date. Its spacious, well laid out streets set off to advantage the many fine public buildings, of which the Town Hall, with its $85,000 grand organ, the general post office, the national art gallery, the Mitchell library, the Australian museum, the treasury and the government savings bank are outstanding examples. There are a number of first class hotels in Sydney and many highly capitalized banks and business organizations. The city is served by five daily newspapers, housed in modern structures. There are also a number of weeklies and a good provincial press.

The Australian climate is particularly suited to out-door sports and the Australians are keen sportsmen. Randwick race course and the Sydney cricket ground are popular meeting places. International test cricket and football matches, tennis, golf, bowls and other athletics offer sports events of wide interest to the visitor.

Private wealth in New South Wales, of which Sydney is the capital, is officially placed at $2,250 for each unit of population a rating only exceeded by the United States. It is estimated that more than 70 per cent of adult males are possessed of estates.

About 82 per cent of the children between 7 to 14 years of age attend the State schools, the remainder being enrolled in denominational and other private schools.

Catholic educational institutions are numerous and attain a high standard. Aside from parochial schools, there are several excellent colleges, St. Joseph's College; Hunter's Hill, conducted by the Marist Brothers, and the Jesuit College, St. Ignatius', at Riverview, are the best known.

HEAT FORCES POPE TO ABANDON WALKS

Bothered Also by Twisted Foot Pontiff Decides to Stay in Apartment

Rome.—(AP)—Heat so oppressive that the temperature sometimes reached 100 in the shade has forced Pope Pius to abandon his daily walks in the gardens of the Vatican. He has also been inconvenienced by one foot which he twisted in descending from his automobile.

The pontiff, without medical advice Thursday decided not to descend from his apartment to the Pauline chapel two floors below although it was the date for obtaining the "Pardon of Assisi" in that chapel.

It had been the pope's custom in other years to make three visits to the Pauline Chapel on the date for obtaining the "Pardon of Assisi." He usually went there on the eve of the celebration, privately on the celebration day and again in state with his civil and ecclesiastical courts.

The pope was grieved at breaking the precedent. Instead of going to the Pauline chapel he celebrated mass and offered special prayers in his private chapel.

MICHIGAN MAN IS BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL AUG. 24

Adolph Lufke, Iron Mountain, Mich., was bound over for trial on Aug. 24 on a charge of rape following his preliminary hearing in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Thursday afternoon. Lufke was arrested July 21 by Constable Herman Abitz in the town of Grand Chute on complaint of a 21-year-old

STANDARDIZATION OF OIL BEING SOUGHT

Scientists, Engineers and Promoters Gather at Colorado Springs

Colorado Springs, Col., (AP)—Men who have defeated Nature at her own game and made production of oil a science rather than a gamble will meet here tomorrow to talk over the old days—and the new.

They will assemble in the semi-annual standardization conference of the American Petroleum Institute for a two-day program devoted to promoting standard scientific methods of oil production.

The 400 executives, engineers and practical field men expected to attend have been engaged during the past few years in working out a standardization program which involves every phase of the business of producing petroleum, with the result that standard specifications have been completed on 50 per cent of production equipment used in the field.

Geologists have applied such scientific methods to the discovery of oil that not only is it possible to save the expense of futile drilling where oil does not exist, but to find oil where it does exist at greater depths than ever before. The engineer has kept pace with the geologist and is able to bring the deeplying oil to the surface. Only a decade ago wells more than 3,000 feet deep presented a baffling problem. Today depths of 6,000 and 7,000 feet are not uncommon.

A method of conserving the natural gas which accompanies oil production and also of stimulating the flow of oil, known as "gas lift," also has been developed. More oil is recovered from oil sand and the natural gas is saved for use in making gasoline.

DERAILED ENGINE HOLDS UP TRAFFIC ON RAILROAD

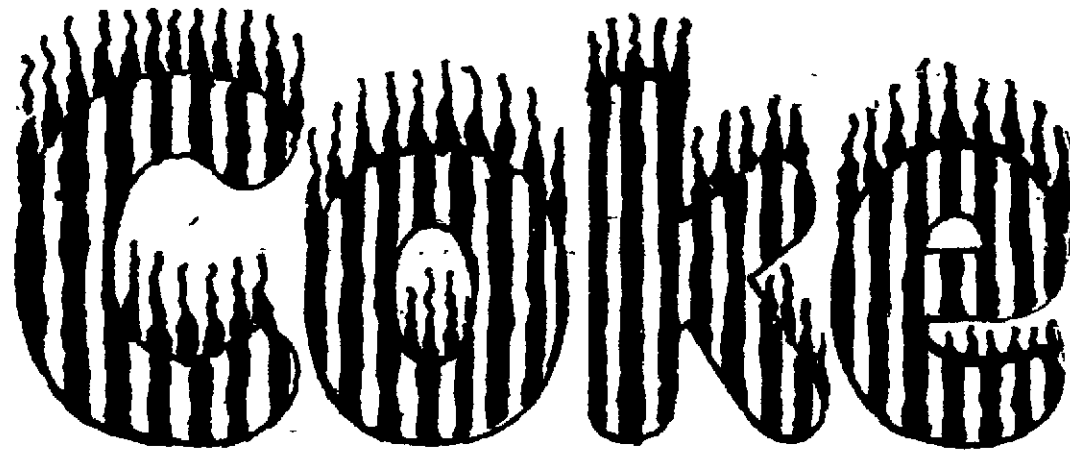

Railroad traffic between the Appleton Junction and Chicago and Northwestern depot on Appleton-st was delayed Friday morning by a derailed switch engine near the Junction depot. Spreading rails are believed to have caused the derailment. Train 217, due at the local depot at 8:27 in the morning, was 25 minutes late.

Several ties were torn loose and the rails damaged. Considerable difficulty was experienced in replacing the engine on the tracks because of the soft ground. Steel blocks and another switch engine were used to pull the derailed engine back on the rails.

Miss Vera Wilkeson left Thursday for South Bend, Ind., where she will visit relatives and friends.

The Misses Esther M. Graef, Appleton, Betty Boag, Green Bay, Evelyn Thelander, Oakbrook, Frances Nylans, Delavan, and Helene Hoate, Fond du Lac, left Wednesday for Estes Park, Col., via Lincoln highway; where they spent a month at the Boag cabin.

HOOPER, SMITH MUST WEIGH THEIR WORDS ON 'WOMEN'S RIGHTS'

Most People Think Question Is Settled but Writer Doubts It

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The average man no doubt assumes that the question of equal rights was settled when the women's suffrage amendment was passed.

But Hoover and Smith hadn't better assume that in their acceptance speeches. The National Woman's Party, whose existence and activities are based solely on the fact that inequality between the sexes does exist under benighted state laws, is waiting with raised axe.

After the acceptance speeches the Woman's Party will hold a meeting to decide what it will do in the presidential campaign. If one of the candidates says something very definite about obtaining equality for women, he can have the support of the Woman's Party, assuming that the other candidate doesn't do as well or better. And while the Woman's Party is by no means the largest of the national women's organization, it is certainly the most militant.

For years the active ladies in this organization have been running around in various states to clean up little instances where women were getting a raw deal under the law, but their primary objective is the passage of a constitutional amendment which would say:

"Men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriation legislation."

That would bring the state in line. The party's crusaders were at both national conventions to get an endorsement of the amendment in the platform. They didn't get it in, but both parties did mention "equality." The Republicans "accepted wholeheartedly equality on the part of the women," but this made the girls a little sore because they say such equality doesn't exist. The Democrats declared for "equality for women with men in all political and governmental matters" and for "an equal wage for equal service," but the candidate's interpretation is nevertheless awaited.

Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential candidate, introduced the equal rights amendment in the Senate, describing it as of the greatest importance to American women. Naturally, the women would hate to turn down friend Charlie at his juncture in case Smith should come clean with them, but they can't very well declare for Smith and Curtis.

The Woman's Party protests because women don't have equal citizenship right, equal opportunities in schools and universities, equal pay for equal work, equal control of their property, earnings—and even children, equal inheritance rights, equal opportunities in government service, professions and industries, equal right to make contracts and so on. It contends that in no state do men and women live "under equal protection of the law."

In cases among others, these horrible examples:

Women are barred from holding higher elective offices in Oklahoma. Texas law is such that when Ma Ferguson took office as governor she petitioned a court to set aside her "legal disabilities as a married woman" so that state contracts she signed wouldn't be questioned.

In many other states the right of women on contract is limited. In Florida a husband can manage and control his wife's own property. In South Carolina and Michigan even a woman's clothes are held to be her husband's property. Georgia concedes a husband's rights to his wife's earnings. In Arkansas, West Virginia and other states the father inherits to the exclusion of the mother when a child dies. More than 33 states define prostitution as an "act of the female" and in many states, including New York and Michigan, women are punished while male participants go free.

In Minnesota the husband has a legal right to his wife's chastity, the wife hasn't the same right concerning her husband. A Texas husband may divorce his wife for a single act of infidelity, but a wife can't divorce her husband except after abandonment and continuous infidelity.

In some states, such as Georgia and Maryland, the father can will away custody of children from the mother. Alabama, Rhode Island and others make the father the sole natural guardian of minor children and Michigan, New York and Massachusetts are among states where father alone is entitled to services and earnings of his children. In many states, including Idaho, Virginia and Texas, there is no law requiring an unmarried father to support his child. Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, North Carolina, New York, Wyoming, Oklahoma and other states bar women from juries.

Prominent women more or less active in the Woman's Party include Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Doris Stevens, Alice Paul, Gail Laughlin, Mabel Vernon, Maud Younger, Zona Gale, Alice Rohe, Ruth Hale, Ernestine Evans and Edna St. Vincent Millay.

ROAD COMMISSION TO PRINT SMALLER MAP

As an additional service to motorists of Wisconsin, the Wisconsin Highway Commission is planning to publish a pocket map of the state according to road received by the Outagamie county highway commission. The new map will be much smaller and without the detours. A number of copies of the map will be received by the highway commission here for distribution to motorists of Outagamie. Other individuals who have subscribed to the weekly service map also will receive copies of the smaller pocket map.

A. Gabriel, proprietor of a fruit store at 507 W. College-ave., has rented the eastern half of the new Notaras building 347 W. College-ave. and will open a furniture store about Aug. 10.

The owner of the building will operate a restaurant in the other half of the structure and will vacate his corner island lunch room at 349 W. College-ave. about Aug. 10. The present lunch room will be added to the Laabs and Shepherd real estate office in the same building.

The new building is a one story structure with three floors below the ground and was built by the Appleton Construction Co. Work on the interior of the building is now being completed and the front windows will be put in this week.

mind that the most dangerous tumors are not necessarily large and that they are silent and painless.

"Contrary to the views held by many people, cancer is a curable disease if the condition is recognized or seen early. The only treatment in cancer of the breast which affords the maximum chance of cure is surgical operation during the early stage of the disease. At this time the entire growth can be removed. X-ray and radium both help and are used by physicians depending on the type of the case."

Married Peoples Dance at Hamples Corners Sat. night.

Physicians Urge Early Treatment For Growths

Madison—Importance of securing early attention of tumorous growths of the breast was shown by a statistical study for 1927 which discloses that only 15 per cent of all lumpy formations are of a harmless type. Reports compiled by the educational committee of the State Medical Society reveal that in the United States during the past year, 10,000 women died from cancer of the breast.

"If all the diseases of the breast were of an infectious nature, it would be easy; but with the second condition, or new growths, the story is quite different," declares the bulletin. "There are two types of new growths or tumors, in the breast. The first type is the benign or harmless growth, which occurs early in life, usually in the second or early third decade. These tumors are easily treated and can be removed and the condition cured. It is always wise to consult a physician for any mass in the breast even though it is harmless, because certain of these early harmless growths become cancerous later on if allowed to remain."

"The second type of new growth is the malignant or cancerous tumor. Such tumors occur most frequently during the third, fourth, and fifth decades of life, however, they may occur at any age. They grow silently in most instances without any pains or signs of constitutional disturbances. Some of these tumors are small, others are large. The size of the growth has nothing whatever to do with the type of the growth. Frequently a tumor no larger than a pea is fatal and has spread cancer cells over the entire body before discovered by the patient."

"If we stop to consider that 80 per cent of all tumors in the breast are of a cancerous nature and only about 15 per cent are of the harmless type, the necessity of finding out early about every tumor becomes obvious at once. This is further borne out when we learn from a statistical study that during 1927 approximately 20,000 women died from cancer of the breast. This is an appalling number and should have never reached such proportions. The people themselves are to blame in most cases, and much can be done to lower the mortality list.

"It should be constantly kept in

CRITICIZING THEMSELVES

Mr. Kohler, candidate for governor, in his keynote address at Fond du Lac, had this to say of the water power issue raised by Mr. Beck: "The present water power situation in Wisconsin has developed under the rule of professional politicians. They now view with alarm the situation for which they are responsible. Criticism of that situation is an admission of failure on their part, and they have no right to ask for a job in which they admit they have failed."

The pertinency of these remarks we leave to our readers. If there is anything wrong with the water power situation it is obviously due to Super-Progress, for it is under this species of government the situation has arisen, together with the marked growth of the power interests. Whenever Blaine and Beck criticize the water power status of Wisconsin they criticize themselves. They and their kind of government and politics are responsible for whatever is. Furthermore, now that the cream of water power, sources has been acquired by private interests under their regime, and with their consent they are clamoring for public ownership. Obviously they are not the ones to be relied upon in deciding the wisdom of public ownership.

Mr. Kohler says a careful study should be made of the valuations upon which public utility rates are based, and necessary legislation enacted to protect fully the public interests. We think Mr. Kohler's suggestion is sound. We do not know that there is anything wrong about the water power situation in the state. Politicians in the Beck crowd are charging that there is. As usual they are making a lot of sweeping and unsupported statements. No one can tell whether there is any basis for them or not. They are the kind of politicians who will attack anyone or anything to get votes.

However, in the last few years there have been some large and important absorptions and mergers of public utilities, involving reorganization and changes of capital. It may be well to check up on these consolidations and expansions as they are made, to the end that we may be always assured that the capital structure is bonafide and that the investment on which rates are based is a true and sound investment.

Recently, too, publicity has been given by one of the leading and most reputable newspapers of Wisconsin to a comparison of rates for electricity of both privately and publicly owned power plants, which shows a wide discrepancy in charges. A variety of factors may operate to influence these rates, including book-keeping and accounting methods, charges for public service, extensions, etc., so that a true comparison, especially as between municipally and privately owned plants, is difficult to arrive at.

Rates in effect in any given locality are always a proper subject for inquiry if they appear to be unduly high. The consumers are entitled at all time to protection against an excessive or fictitious capitalization on which rates are based. They must look to government, both local and state, to give them protection. It is the function of the press to give such publicity as will inform the public and bring about or force action where action is advisable. Mr. Kohler's proposals relating to public utilities, in view both of the charges of the politicians and of the facts we have outlined, are practical and timely.

WHEN CALLES RETIRES
There is general approval of Calles' decision to retire from office at the expiration of his constitutional term on Dec. 1. By that decision he proves himself a man not greedy for power. Under the unusual circumstances brought about by the assassination of Gen. Obregon, the president-elect, Calles might have accepted an extension of his term without causing much unfavorable comment. That he will not do so, however, is greatly in his favor.

His administration has been turbulent, although there has not been outright insurrection or civil war. He has had many problems to face and many controversies with the United States and with the church and other groups within Mexico. He has done his work well and deserves the chance to set it aside as a difficult task honestly completed.

It is to be hoped that by Dec. 1, as good a man will have been found to take the presidential post.

WONDER WHAT MR. SMITH THINKS ABOUT IT?
The federal authorities are padlocking celebrated resorts and fashionable clubs of New York, Washington and other eastern cities. In fact, there are evidences of more energetic prohibition enforcement by the government all over the country. Weak spots are being tightened up here and there. This is in line with the platform demands of both the Republican and Democratic parties. It is proper that the government should respond to this universal demand for law enforcement, even if part of it is political and insincere.

Nevertheless, one wonders what the Democratic nominee for president thinks of it. In his state the federal government receives no support from the state authorities. Its enforcement act was repealed with the approval and signature of Governor Smith; this notwithstanding New York is under a common obligation with all other states to support and enforce the federal constitution, and so is its governor when he takes his oath of office.

It is the question raised by this precise situation which caused Vance McCormick, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and the man who conducted the second campaign of Woodrow Wilson, to withdraw his approval of Smith's candidacy. Mr. McCormick publishes the Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot. In announcing his decision he says:

In asking a newspaper loyal to such a pledge and further committed to the sound American doctrine of obedience to the constitution and to the law, to urge the people to support for president a candidate widely heralded as the hope of the nullificationists and who himself is on record for a program of state interpretation which amounts to nullification and inspiration for law-breakers is asking too much. For after all, parties and candidates are appealing only as long as they stand for the well being of the nation as seen by those to whom appeal is made.

To disregard the constitution and the laws thereof, and even to encourage such disregard, is destructive to the nation and offensive to the people. It is un-American in spirit and destined to lead to chaos, and the Patriot will not be a party to that.

This criticism involves a constitutional point of view. It does not necessarily go to Mr. Smith's moral or intellectual honesty, and certainly not to his patriotism. It touches a conception of government of the utmost importance, however. Mr. Smith looks at his responsibilities as governor under the prohibition amendment in one way. Practically all other governors look at them in another way. How he would regard his obligations as president is vital. For ourselves, we cannot see any difference between them when it comes to supporting and giving validity to the constitution of the United States, whether he is governor or president. The issue of nullification cannot be dismissed. Neither can collateral questions touching the relations of an executive to the constitution.

MR. EKERN'S PREDICAMENT
There is something amusing about Mr. Ekern's protest to the chairman of the Republican National committee against consideration by that body of the claim of George Vits and Mrs. Harry Thomas as members-elect of the committee, and his challenging of Dr. Work's right to ignore the claims of himself and Miss Elizabeth McCormick of Superior. Consider Mr. Ekern in the postures of both prayer and threat to the National committee and threat to the National committee that he be labeled and certified a Republican. If he has an appreciation of humor he must smile at the picture himself.

Mr. Ekern is a Progressive. This classification in Wisconsin at least is as far removed from Republican as the flag dropped by Gen. Noble in the polar region of the north is from the flag Commander Byrd is preparing to deposit in the Antarctic waste. If he wants company he should try the Democrats. Socialists or Prohibitionists. With him in this deplorable boat are Senator Blaine and Young LaFollette. All are getting ready to bolt the Republican ticket in November, as they do in every election. They will refrain from making the announcement until after the primary, in order to profit as much as possible by their posing as Republicans.

It would seem to the innocent onlooker that the Republican committee had flirted with Blaineism and Super-Progress in Wisconsin long enough. Why compromise with politicians who are confirmed enemies and opponents of the Republican party, and who even now are conspiring to deliver Wisconsin to the Al Smith column? When honest Republicans of this state see signs of honesty and courage in the National committee they may take heart themselves and help redeem Wisconsin from the hypocritical role it is now playing. There certainly is nothing to lose by an upstanding course of action, and everything to gain.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Written answers are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady,

MORE AND COSTLIER DOCTOR BOOKS
The number of new books on health and sickness for lay readers is getting beyond compute, and the more books of this class published the higher the price, apparently.

Here's a recent one from Harper & Bros., "What You Should Know About Health and Disease," by Howard W. Haggard. It is a fairly voluminous work, over 500 pages, and sets the customer back five shillings. Haggard's "Physiology," that excellent popular book recently published by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., contains about 250 pages and costs $2.50. Florence Dakin's "Simplified Nursing in the Home," J. B. Lippincott company, gives about 475 pages for $2. Dr. Clendenning Logan's "The Human Body," (Alfred A. Knopf, publisher) has scarcely 400 pages and sells for six bucks, but this is an exceptionally fine specimen of the bookmaker's art and the price is reasonable enough.

The Harper book, "What You Should Know About Health and Disease" is by a physician, though the author does not acknowledge his medical degree on the title page. There he calls himself just Howard W. Haggard, associate professor of applied physiology at Yale university. And the book is a somewhat ponderous mass of information not of much practical value. The publisher seems to recognize this, for stamped across the packet are the words "A Book of General Information." As such a book it may be worth the price. An introduction by Prof. Yandell Henderson, famous for his work in artificial respiration and resuscitation, explains that the book is intended for employers and engineers in charge of labor for college students, and for the whole educated public. Thus for five plunks you may purchase membership in the last named group. Professor Henderson is a great physiologist but not a physician.

Really it doesn't seem fair to tell five dollar customers that cold, exposure, fatigue, wet, damp, draft, inefficient clothing, or sudden change of weather, renders one more susceptible to coryza and so on. Certainly no physiologist has found any scientific evidence that this quaint old superstition has any foundation in truth. The publisher refers to this heavy volume as a "good no nonsense book about health and ill health" to recommend to readers. One man's favorite myths, superstitions or vagaries may be another man's nonsense.

But, shucks, Professor Haggard's book has very little in it that even I can quarrel about. Probably no man could write a book on health and ill health that would meet with my entire approval—except perhaps the conductor of this column. There are at least 475 pages of solid and dependable information about health and sickness in the book, and every page is worth a dollar when you are in need of the particular information it gives. Still, I hate like everything to hand over five little round iron men to anybody for a three dollar book, I mean, under compulsion.

On the function of the skin Professor Haggard sets some of our more prolific medical editors and our careless health or diet column conductors a good example. He says:

"The skin is a minor function; no serious diseases would follow its complete abolition, for the kidneys could normally carry the added burden."

That's a fair sample of the sound, scientific information throughout Professor Haggard's book. It is only when the physiologist gets off his beat and attempts to give practical hygienic suggestions or advice, that a little nonsense creeps in.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
No Hospital Needed
Kindly advise me the names and locations of hospitals or clinics giving the inoculation treatment for hay fever. (M. F. R.)

Answer—I do not believe that would be kind. I advise you to consult a physician for such treatment.

The "Sanitary" Idea
An opinion from you on the inclosed folder would be appreciated. I have found your advice about such things reliable on previous occasions. (H. J. E.)

Answer—The folder describes a "sanitary" plug for bathtubs, sinks and wash basins. That particular plug described may be a good one, but the claim about the relatively few millions of germs found on it is ridiculous. It would be a shame to make your good customers pay a premium for that sort of fiddle-faddle.

Fatty Tumor
Our doctor says a bunch on the side of my neck is a fatty tumor and that some day it may have to be operated on. It isn't very large or noticeable yet. Isn't there some way to get rid of it without an operation? (Mrs. E. B. W.)

Answer—There is no other way to remove a fatty tumor. As a rule it is a minor operation, readily done under local anesthesia. Do not be alarmed by the word "tumor"—it means just lump, a lump of fat, and is nothing like cancer.

ENGLAND'S "MOST PERFECT POET"

The job of helping to decide recently in a college contest whether Alexander Pope was a poet or a versifier caused me to look again at the work of this unquestionably able writer after a lapse of some 20 years during which I did not read a line of him. It is interesting to do that kind of thing with a writer. Some can survive the test, others cannot.

It is probably just as hard to decide whether Pope can or cannot as it is to decide whether he is a real poet or merely a versifier. So far as I know, that question has never been settled. Perhaps it can't be settled. There is no agreement on the real meaning of the title "poet."

It can be said quite positively that Pope is still worth reading, and that is saying a good deal about a writer who was born 240 years ago. Not by any means all of him, but neither is all of Shakespeare worth reading or all of any other poet, no matter how great he is. Scholars spend painstaking years on annotating even the least admirable plays of Shakespeare, and they get into a frame of mind that makes them believe that the least word of their particular poet is worth con- sidering carefully. But every great poet has written many things that are mediocre and that are not worth the time or effort of a person.

A person coming back to Pope, after having neglected him since college days, is likely to read him for a different reason than he did in early youth. Satire is not unusually very welcome to youth and Pope is worth reading today because he was a really great satirist, not because he was, what he and his friends claimed for him, England's "most perfect poet."

This title was regarded by Pope as a merit; today it is almost regarded as a defect. It is doubtful if any poet would like to be called "the most perfect poet." The term poet has acquired connotations that cannot be expressed by the adjective "perfect," and "great poet" would not at all be regarded as synonymous.

But as a satirist Pope still has a right to claim attention—probably because in his satire he was more or less himself. He did not have a very lovely disposition. Life more over had deformed, so that he could not stand the rigors of ordinary life but had to spend much of his time in solitude, and he is likely to have been a bit of a misanthrope. He had beautiful bodies but nothing in their heads.

It was entirely natural that such a person, given a really good mind, should turn more or less sour and should take out his quarrel with life and the world on the nonentities of his age. Add to that that it was the age of satire in literature and that Dean Swift, the greatest satirist England has produced, was contemporaneous with Pope and as much a friend of his as Swift could be of any man, and you have the reason why Pope should be good in satire. He expressed himself in it and he expressed his age in it.

His satire hasn't the universal application that Swift imparted to his im-

Brother And Sister Wed On Same Day

A double wedding took place Thursday morning when Miss Esther Lucille Hillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hillman, 739 W. Spencer-st., was married to Walter H. Brockhaus, son of Mrs. Emma Brockhaus, 134 E. Hancock-st., and William S. Hillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hillman, was married to Miss Jean H. DeTienne of Green Bay. The marriages occurred at 6 o'clock at the parsonage of St. Mary church, with the Rev. Leo Binder, reading the marriage service.

Mr. and Mrs. Brockhaus were attended by Miss Martha Brockhaus, sister of the bridegroom and Arnold Hillman, brother of the bride. Miss Helen Hillman and Arnold Hillman attended Mr. and Mrs. William Hillman. A breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Hillman home immediately after the ceremonies and a wedding dinner was served at 12:30 for 32 guests. Sweet peas, roses and gladiolus were used in the pink and white decoration plan for the home.

Guests were the immediate relatives of the members of the wedding party and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson of Oak Park, Ill.; John Sec-tuis of Loyal; Mr. and Mrs. John De-Tienne, Mr. and Mrs. George De-Tienne of Green Bay; the Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Thoms, Miss Aimee Zimmer, Mrs. Della Anderson of Appleton, and Mrs. Brockhaus left Wednesday afternoon on a ten day wedding trip to Hartford and Milwaukee. BUILDING ADDITION TO NEW LONDON HOT HOUSE

New London—Work is nearly completed on the new wing of the Stinson and Sons greenhouse on Wyman-st. This new addition, 12 by 42 ft. and comprising the third wing of the building, is being equipped with all modern conveniences and will be used to house the potted plants.

According to Lyle Stinson, the increasing demand for house plants and flowers has been so rapid during the past few years that there is constantly a necessity for more production space. The firm is contemplating constructing a fourth wing on the building this season. The Stinson and Sons greenhouse was opened on the present site about five years ago and the company, including Mrs. Stinson and her sons, Grant and Lyle.

With improvements planned for next year, the company will have one of the most completely equipped greenhouses for its size in this section of the state.

THINK INJURED YOUTH WAS KICKED BY HORSE

New London—The condition of Wayne, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Lyon of Northport, who was seriously injured Monday, is reported as slightly improved. The child was felled off by himself during the afternoon and found unconscious in a pasture by Miss Alice Wilson, a neighbor. He was brought to this city and an X-ray picture disclosed a fractured skull. An operation was performed and a piece of the skull bone removed. Just how the accident happened is not known but it is thought that he was kicked by a horse.

Declares Crime Necessary For Progress Of Humanity

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Crime is an essential factor in the progress of the human race, and cannot be eliminated by jails or moral codes, Dr. S. W. Brownstein of the Illinois department of public health believes.
Dr. Brownstein's views were written for the Illinois Welfare Magazine, publication of the state department, and were considered so unusual that the magazine disclaimed responsibility for the theories propounded.
"Crime," says Dr. Brownstein, "is the urge to contravention, inherent in matter, organic or inorganic. It is a natural phenomenon, the manifestation of all activity growth and development. It is the law of life and motion and its working principle is beyond the influence of human ingenuity."
"Can you imagine," he asks, "a progressive social system without exploiters, thieves, murderers, riots, revolutions, wars? Such a state would spell stagnation and death to the social system. If there was no antagonism, no contravention, no contrast, there would be no resistance. Where there is a resistance, there is no force. Where there is no force, the reals no life."

The food and drink consumed by the average man each year weighs about a ton.

CONTINUE RAILROAD TRAIN TO ASHLAND

Northwestern Cancels Order to Take Off Train Between Ironwood and Lake

The decision of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to continue running trains 116 and 117 between Ashland and Ironwood, Mich., is attributed to protest of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce.

The cancellation has been temporarily postponed, but the railroad commission has no power to compel the railroad to operate the trains because these runs were voluntarily established by the railroad, according to officials of the railroad company.

If the cancellation order is to go into effect later, the Ashland chamber of commerce will have to file a written complaint and present it to the commission for a special hearing, officials say.

SHERIFF ASKS HELP TO FIND FUGITIVE

Notices were sent out this week by Sheriff Otto Zuckert to sheriffs and police chiefs throughout the state asking their help in finding Charles H. Williams, alias Charles Gulak, wanted here for non-support. Williams is about five feet eight inches tall, pompadour hair, prominent scar above his forehead, heavy eye lashes, brown eyes, a split thumb nail, is about 40 years old, of Greek nationality and speaks good English. He is a candy maker and may be working in a restaurant. When last seen he was driving a Studebaker brougham with the license number E-11815.

WHERE CANAL GATE KILLED EIGHT MEN

Crushed under a falling 500-ton steel gate in the locks of the Welland canal near Thorold, Ontario, eight men were killed and numerous others injured. A crane collapsed while workers were setting the 55-foot structure in place. Above, rescuers are seen trying to raise the wreckage under which the men were buried. At the right is a picture of the lock, the dotted lines showing how the big gate appeared when in position.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

At the Contract Bridge table, what does an original bid of two of a Major suit mean? Many players—even experts—answer this question in their own way and are so wedded to their own interpretation that they fail to give due consideration to other systems. Today and tomorrow I shall describe and discuss the conventions in common use.

(A) Strength and length (at least five cards, in the Major named) and a suggestion that there is a good chance for a slam if partner can furnish material help. Partner is expected to jump or assist if he have an Ace or King. With this system a Major three-bid would negative slam probabilities.

(B) A Major of at least five cards, but without the top; and with side strength. Distinct notice that slam is not probable. With this system a bid of three of a Major would be slam-invitation.

Systems (A) and (B) work delightfully when a made-to-order hand is held and a slam can be made; but when, as generally is the case, the hand is not made to fit exactly the bidding system that has been chosen, either (A) or (B) is apt to embarrass its user as he lacks a bid which will describe his hand accurately. Then, too, it must be conceded the slam hands are comparatively infrequent and as either of these systems may fail to give accurate information for reaching the best final contract, they are apt to be losers much more often than winners. A special objection to system (A) is that it robs partner's bid of the significance it should have.

(C) A hand that contains general strength and at least four cards, with tops in the Major named. Partner not expected to jump without at least normal support, but is expected to bid with an Ace or King (some say Ace or King and another honor).

This system is very confusing for the partner who holds exactly normal support for the suit named and some little side assistance; the game may be there at the suit and not at the No Trump, or vice versa. Contract requires that the most accurate information be given each time a player speaks and system (C) creates much uncertainty.

(D) Three strong four-card suits and a singleton; with the special significance that when the bid is two Hearts the singleton is a Spade.

The greatest objection to this system is that it cannot be used frequently; those who follow it make fewer Major two-bids than the believers in other systems. Furthermore, there is always a grave question as to just how strong the three four-card suits are and unless the bid be two Hearts, which suit is the singleton.

Have You Tried a Dinner in Our New Marine Dining Room?

"Mademoiselle" from Armentieres, which comes to Fischers' Appleton Theatre Today Tomorrow and Sunday, recall many British wartime airs.

Produced in England by the Gaudin Film Company for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the new film is based on legends connected with the old song which gives it its intriguing title. "Mademoiselle from Armentieres" is a British army song and had its origin during the days of the great retreat from Mons. The American army on arriving in France took over the old song, added its own peculiar flavor to the words, changed several verses, and adopted it as its own. The song provided the key melody for the musical accompaniment to the film.

Other British war songs, not as familiar to the American public as "Mademoiselle from Armentieres," also have their place in the action of the film, and in its musical accompaniment. One sequence, perhaps the most heartrending of the picture, deals with the song, "O Soldiers Never Die," which is sung by a young soldier who is being sent away. This scene is the veteran's song of the British army.

"WHERE THE WORMS CREEP" Another song, which has its own special place in the film is a comic ballad that begins with the words "Lying out where the worms creep, there's the sergeant to sing me to sleep." This is sung at a Whirlwind party which provides a comedy sequence for this new war film.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" "Pack Up Your Troubles" "Dear Old Pal" and "The British Grenadier" are other popular songs which give the picture a strong rhythm.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" and "Pack Up Your Troubles" are the most popular of the songs which are featured in the picture. The girl who is left behind is the heroine of the story, and the soldier who is sent away is the hero. The picture is a love story, and the songs are the key to the plot.

COMEDY BASED ON EVERY-DAY FOLK Being one of the facts that a great deal of comedy occurs every day amongst the ordinary people of a busy city, William Fox chose "The Wages of Sin" as an original story by Jack T. Wells, a young newspaper man, as his comedy vehicle for First National Pictures. The offering, produced by C. Burr and directed by Charles Hines comes to the Elite theatre tomorrow and Sunday.

The hilarious situations arise as Johnny Hines, in the role of the young happy-go-lucky inventor, tries to get to the office of the big boss, with his ludicrously hot-tempered ink. A romance develops between Johnny and a pretty stenographer, played by Louise Lorraine, and this is said to be the best of all the comedies.

"The Girl I Left Behind Me" "Pack Up Your Troubles" "Dear Old Pal" and "The British Grenadier" are other popular songs which give the picture a strong rhythm.

night, with all lights extinguished and the captain and crew holding the passengers as prisoners. There is also a humorous and dramatic finish to the picture with Johnny Hines saving the situation by means of his luminous ink.

C. Burr has chosen a splendid cast of players to support the comedian, with Louise Lorraine playing the leading feminine role and including Edmund Breece, Walter James, Fred Kelsey, Henry Barrows, Harry Herbert, Charles Glynn, Charles Gerrard, George Irving, Blanche Craig, Betty Egan, and a score of others. Charles Hines directed the picture.

BATTLING ATHLETICS CUT YANKEE LEAD TO 4 1/2 GAMES

Champions Lose 15-Frame Tilt To Browns As Macks Conquer In Tenth Straight

Cardinals Continue Winning Ways in National; Carlson Hurts Cubs to Win

It's a funny game—baseball. A month ago, everyone including Cornelius McGillicuddy, conceded the 1928 American League pennant to the New York Yankees and fans turned to the National League to watch what seemed certain to be a ding-dong battle until the final ball.

Friday the St. Louis Cardinals led the older circuit by six and a half games. The Yankees, on the other hand, have seen a thirteen-game lead crumble away day by day until the galloping White Elephants of Philadelphia, led by none other than the tall Mr. McGillicuddy, are but four and a half games to the rear of the champions.

Simmons, Orwall, Fox, Cochran, Haas, et al., showing a crushing power on the offensive, and Grove, Walberg, Quinn, Ehman, Rommel and Earshaw giving opposing batters few hits and fewer runs, the A's have run up a 16-game winning streak, won 17 of their last 18 games and 26 of the 31 they've played since July 3. Over the same period the Yanks have won 19 of 34, a clear gain for Connie's boys of eight and a half games.

George Earnshaw was a puzzle to the Cleveland Indians Thursday, and the A's had an equally registering tenth straight win, 6 to 2. Earnshaw allowed six hits, half of them going to Carl Lind. George Uble was hit hard by the Macks.

Babe Fans Twice After pitching great ball for 14 innings, Herb Pennock weakened in the 15th and the St. Louis Browns trimmed him, 4 to 3. Stewart's single with the bases filled and none out in the 15th sent the champions down to defeat. Stewart had relieved Jack Ogden in the ninth and allowed only six hits thereafter, striking out Babe Ruth twice. The Babe, in fact, failed to get the ball out of the infield.

Taking Washington down the line, 5 to 4 in 12 innings, the Detroit Tigers chalked up their ninth win in 11 games and moved past Senators into sixth place.

Ted Lyons shook the jinx that has pursued him for two weeks and pitched the Chicago White Sox to an easy 6 to 3 win over Boston. It was the White Sox' sixth straight victory.

N. L. SHAKUP While the Cards continued their winning ways at the expense of the Boston Braves, 6 to 1, the rest of the National League standings suffered a shakeup. The New York Giants taking second place and the Pittsburgh Pirates moving up to fifth place a step ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Flint Rhem held the Braves to seven hits at Boston and was aided by snappy infield support. Delaney was a victim of bunched hits in the first and eighth innings.

Cincinnati's Reds dropped to third place when they were nosed out by the Giants, 7 to 5, in a free-hitting game. Joe Genevich was hit hard but he was good enough to outpitch four Red pitchers. Red Lucas was charged with the defeat.

Carl Carman making his first start of the season, pitched the Chicago Cubs to a close decision over the Dodgers, 3 to 2. Doug McWeeny and Rube Ehrhardt allowed the Cubs only five hits but Jake Flowers' two errors in the sixth gave the invaders two runs and as it eventually proved, the game.

The Pirates pounded out twenty hits to sink the Phillies, 18 to 4. Wright and Grantham hit homers, each when two men were on the bases.

To Play Pro Football Again

Bruce Jones, one of the best guards ever turned out in southern football, will play pro football for his second year with the Green Bay Packers this fall.

Age Means Little In Life Of One Jack Quinn Of Macks

BY BILLY EVANS Like the immortal brook, John Quinn Picus, known to the baseball fraternity as plain Jack Quinn, seems to get pitching on Old Doc Time apparently has forgotten to check up on Connie Mack's veteran hurler.

Cy Young of other days was around the 40-year mark when he stepped out of major league campaigning; Babe Adams was through at 42; Johnson at 49. Grever Alexander still is carrying on at 41.

But old Jack Quinn at 42 is hurling exceptional ball this season. In fact, he's likely to hang up the best record he ever has established in his 16 years of big time competition. That's something to ponder over a bit.

Quinn started his professional career in the Penn State League in 1903. He started six years before Alexander, four before Johnson and one in advance of Adams. Hence, this is Jack's twenty-sixth pro season on the diamond.

Quinn has had an unusual big league regime. As far back as 1903 he was with the Yankees. After four seasons there he was shunted to Rochester in the International. Two years or so later he caught on with the Red Sox only to jump to the Baltimore club of the short-lived Federal League in 1914. The next campaign he found him with the Orioles, but in 1916-17 he was with Vernon in the Pacific Coast circuit.

Old Jack finished the 1918 chase with the Chicago White Sox, the coast league having suspended on account of the World War. In 1919 he was awarded to the Yankees, staying there until the end of the 1921 season when he was traded to the Red Sox.

Three and a half years with Boston and Quinn went to the Athletics at the wolver price. That was in

DOUBLE HEADER TO FEATURE PLAY AT LITTLE CHUTE PARK

Both Intercounty and Valley League Leaders Play Home Games on Sunday

Baseball fans of Little Chute and vicinity who travel to the new Chute ball park Sunday will witness one of the feature attractions of the 1928 diamond season in the Fox River Valley for the first-place teams of the two strongest leagues in the valley will each furnish part of a bargain day double-header. The opening game at 12:30 will be between the Little Chute team of the Intercounty League, 1927 champion of the loop, and the Freedom team of the same circuit. This will be followed by a game between the Kimberly-Little Chute team of the Fox River Valley League, also 1927 champions of their circuit, and the Neenah-Menasha crew.

Both Chute teams are leading their leagues at present in an effort to win double and successive pennants. The Intercounty team leads by a one-game margin with two yet to be played and must whip Freedom to keep from a tie for the title with the Appleton Athletics should that team win its remaining games. The Lakers team has a two-game lead with five to play and a win from the Pails will bring it two games closer to at least a tie for the banner. With both Chute teams 1927 champions and leaders again this year a good comparison of the relative strengths of the two circuits, the Valley and Intercounty, can be obtained by interested fans who witness both battles. The question has been a puzzle all year.

LOUISIANA COACH SAYS ALABAMA TO HAVE STARS

Baton Rouge, La.—It will be Alabama in the Southern Conference football race again this year.

Chet's the opinion of Russ Cohen, Wallace Wade's assistant for five years, who will be head coach of football at Louisiana State University this fall.

"Wade had practically a sophomore team last year and most of those fellows will be back," Cohen said recently.

"But where he will get help is from that freshman crowd of last year. I never saw as good material in my life as they had at Alabama. The frosh were as good as many varsity teams I scouted last year, and it wouldn't surprise me to see many of them playing regularly this year."

So This Is the Formula

Walter Christie, veteran coach at California, says it is "what an athlete has from the ears up" which makes him a champion performer.

1925. Since the Macks the veteran right-hander seems to have taken a new lease on life. In 1925 he finished with a mark of 13 victories and 11 defeats. The next year he fell back somewhat, copping 10 games to 11 reverses. Last season he came back with 15 wins and but 10 losses.

This year Quinn has been setting a hot pace. He has been right up with the leaders since the opening game and has given no outward signs of a letup. I wouldn't be surprised were Jack to chalk up 20 triumphs this season, a pretty winning figure nowadays and a mark the old fellow has yet to reach in his major hostilities. Twice Quinn has hit the 15-win class—in 1910 and 1920.

Like Alexander, Faber and some of the other veterans, Quinn depends to a great extent on the old gray matter when in the box. Jack's souper, obviously, isn't what it used to be; his fast one lacks the zip it once knew, but the spitball is as deceptive as ever.

One of Jack's best assets, besides his arm, is his ability to put the ball where he wants. Like Alexander, Mathewson and others who stayed around the big top years after their assortment of stuff was but 50 per cent of what it was in their younger days, Quinn is strong on control.

Jack knows how to work the corners, is thoroughly familiar with his batters and you seldom find him in the hole on a batsman. In the last two campaigns Quinn walked only 73 men in 65 games, a little more than one to pass to the fracas.

BATS .500

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—Elliot Bigelow, outfielder of the Birmingham Barons in the Southern Association, is laying claim to the crown of world's champion batter.

Hitting close to the .500 mark, the giant outfielder tops the leaders of 22 of the outstanding leagues of the United States.

The most remarkable feature of Bigelow's average is that only once in the history of the Southern Association has a player equalled or hit above the .400 mark for a season. That was in 1902 when a Nashville player named Hill batted .416.

Labeled by many scouts as one of the greatest prospects of the year, Bigelow has been handicapped by one weakness—his throwing arm. To overcome this defect the Birmingham slugger has devoted many morning hours to learning to throw with his right hand instead of his left and as a result is now able to heave the ball to the infield with great improvement.

ROACH SPORTS TAKE GAME FROM PRESSMEN

Lutz held the Tuttle Press Co. softball team to a few widely scattered blows, Wednesday afternoon at First Ward school field, only two men even reaching third base and as a result the Roach Sport Shop crew blanked the Pressmen, 5-0, in a Senior Playground League battle. The Roach crew scored a run in each of the first two frames, Loeselyoung and Briese counting; two in the fifth by Loeselyoung and Davis, and one in the sixth by Diedrich. Erickson of the losers also hurled good ball.

MILLERS ADVANCE IN A. A. FLAG RACE

Knock Off Colonels Twice to Pull Up to 2 1/2 Games from Top

Chicago—(AP)—Mike Kelley, who used to turn out championship teams for St. Paul but who hasn't been able to send Minneapolis in first division in four years, had his Millers tied for third place and within two and a half games from the top of the American Association heap Friday.

The momentum that carried Kelley and his men to their position was a double victory over the sinking Louisville Colonels Thursday. The Kels took the opener, 5 to 0, and the nightcap, 7 to 3.

Indianapolis took the opener from the Saints, 7 to 6, but dropped the second in a hard fought game, 5 to 3. Kansas City went from the extreme to the sublime in its game with Toledo. The Blues won the first game, 11 to 0, the second, they dropped, 4 to 2.

GAMES THIS WEEK Cahall-Bergland 21, 21; Branchford-Endter 18, 15. Court-Baers 21, 21; Branchford-Endter 16, 10. Peterson-Lorenz 21, 21; DeYoung-Green 3, 16.

First matches in the city championship horseshoe pitching tournament for seniors and midgets were played this week and results in the senior division show the representatives of the First and Sixth wards to be in the lead. In the midget class three duos, representing the First, Fifth and Sixth wards, are tied for the lead.

Each ward playground in the city is represented in each class, making five entries, and each team plays every other team before the title play is concluded, the champions being decided on a percentage basis. Each of the five entries is the championship team of its own playground, having won the honors in a playground tourney within the last few weeks.

In the games played this week among the seniors, the First ward pair, Hertzfeldt and Kramer took two of three games from the Third ward team, St. Clair and Post, losing the first 21-20 and winning the latter pair 21-15, 21-17, in the hardest match of the week. The Sixth ward duo, Pardee and Duwall, tied the First warders by trouncing the Fourth ward team, DeYoung and DeYoung, two straight games, 21-15, 21-3. The Fifth ward boys, Rammer and Nabbefeldt, drew a bye for the first week.

In the midget class the Branchford and Endter team from the Third ward took a pair of defeats losing two straight games to Cahall and Bergland, First ward, 21-18, 21-15, and two to Court and Baers, Sixth ward, 21-16, 21-10. Meanwhile the Fifth ward team, Peterson and Lorenz, beat the Third ward team, DeYoung and Green, to cause a triple tie for the first position.

BAN JOHNSON NOW LIVES IN QUIET INDIANA TOWN

Spencer, Ind.—(AP)—Remote from the crowded cities and the tumult of "big league" baseball that he knew so well, Ben Johnson, former president of the American League, has come to the town of Spencer, in southern Indiana to rest, and spend the remainder of his days.

A two-story house, one of the largest and most pretentious in this town, has been purchased by Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson has relatives in Spencer, and the Johnsons often visited here when Ben was known as the "czar" of baseball.

RED SOX STAR

One of the young men on his ball club whom Bill Carrigan would hesitate about selling is Doug Taitt, his rookie right fielder, who was acquired last year from the Southern Association. Taitt has done his work well for the Boston club this season, and is one of the best hitters on the club. He's been around the .312 mark all year and that's a big mark for a Boston player. He also can pitch if necessary.

TELEPHONE CO. TEAM BEATS PETTIBONE MEN

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. softball team finally broke its jinx Tuesday in an American League game and won its first loop battle of the season, making the Pettibone-Peabody players the victims of a hard-fought 7-6 tussle, in an extra inning game.

Three runs in the seventh frame tied the game for the Telephone men and one more came over in the eighth with two down.

The losers took a 2-1 lead in the first when Haag and Norm Bellings scored after Hanson had given the winners a tally. It was 4-1 for the Pets in the second as Schreiter and Tornow counted. Miller and Hanson scored in the fourth and the Telephone crew pulled up to 4-3. Goltz, Abendroth and Perrine made it 6-4 for the winners in the first of the seventh but a desperate Pettibone rally sent Tornow and Roman over the plate and the score was tied at the close of the frame. Then Hanson scored for the Telephone men with two out in the eighth and three Pettibone men went out in order in the final half of the frame.

Advance Many Reasons For America's Olympic Trouble

Amsterdam—(AP)—Rich food and too much of it. Climate, insufficient work, too much work and last but not least, keener competition—these are reasons advanced in various circles to explain the relatively poor showing of the American athletes on the Olympic track.

Although the range of excuses advanced cover territories as remote from each other as the north and the south poles, one thing remains certain concerning all of them—that a feverish search for explanations has begun as a result of the unprecedented succession of setbacks the Yankee favorites have suffered.

Even if America's failure to carry off the honors in one or more track events had been successfully explained to the satisfaction of the coaches of the United States team, the discreet snickers of their European rivals would have reminded them of their failure. While there is not likely to be any immediate action taken here, the cards appear to be stacked for a thorough shuffling upon the return home of the American team.

From the viewpoint of the official chief of the American delegation, General Douglas MacArthur, "stiffer competition from Europe as well as other parts of the world" is responsible for the startling defeats of the Americans.

Head Coach Lawson Robertson, who has sat glumly in the press box thus far while his athletes have been "taking it on the chin," blames the climate and training conditions for the failures. Robbie and his aides worked under unusual difficulties after debarking and were divided between giving the athletes plenty of work or risking injuries on poor practice tracks.

The athletes themselves, at least many of them, insist they did not have enough work to regain the peak of condition they reached for the final trials.

Lavish feeding aboard the floating hotel of the American team, the steamship President Roosevelt, is the chief reason for the Yankee failures in the opinion of the boxing coach, Spike Webb.

"Why, I had all the trouble in the world to keep my boxers from getting outside of three or four helpings of

NEW BADGER HOME READY FOR 1,000

Athletic Quarters Lockers Increased to 1,000, Showers to 2,000

Madison—The new home for Wisconsin's athletic teams, which is being constructed under Camp Randall Stadium, will be ready to accommodate 1,000 athletes when the student body returns to school next month. The entire area under the east concrete stands is under-going a complete remodeling and enlargement.

The Badgers' quarters for outdoor teams have been cramped for several years. Last fall, particularly, the available space at the stadium was entirely insufficient to house the large number of men reporting for football and cross country in September. More than 600 athletes were attempting to use the 418 lockers.

The new athletic headquarters will provide larger team rooms for varsity and freshmen. The number of steel lockers will be increased at 1000. A more spacious training room will make easier to care for the injuries of the boys and permit the establishment of a permanent year-around training quarters.

Director George Little expects to add 500 lockers each year until the Camp Randall unit contains 2000 in all. This will make it possible to erect the new field house adjacent, with a connecting tunnel, thus centralizing all of the intercollegiate teams in the one area. It will then not be necessary to utilize space and construction cost in the field house with locker and team rooms.

The plans call for more shower rooms and additional space for the equipment and store rooms. While the work of completing this new stadium unit gets under way, the west stands are being repaired and several concrete sections added for use during the approaching football season.

LABARBA HITS MASTRO IN COMEBACK BATTLE

Los Angeles—(AP)—Fidel La Barba, seeking title honors and a new bankroll in the lightweight division, will meet with the second test of his comeback campaign here August 7, when he attempts to stave off Earl Mastro of Chicago.

The 10-round bout has produced much comment, since La Barba in his first fight after a year of retirement decisively defeated Huerta Evans, game Los Angeles youngster.

Chicago—(AP)—Les Marriner, who in the course of seven months arose from public obscurity to prominence by winning 16 of his 17 fights by knockouts, was met by his master in the person of crafty Chuck Wiggins of Indianapolis.

In ten round slugfest, Wiggins won the judges' and referee's decision over the former University of Illinois football player Thursday night. Marriner fought a game, hard fight but Wiggins' experience and his terrific body blows wore him down and virtually out as the final gong sounded.

BEEKEEPERS FORM 5 COUNTIES ON TOUR

Madison—(AP)—Keepers of bees are going on Sauk and Crawford counties on a tour. From Aug. 7 to 9 bee raisers of Vernon, Crawford, Richland, Sauk and Dane-cos will visit apiaries in that section to study disease control, honey advertising and production of honey.

The state department of markets is promoting the tour, with the cooperation of the college of agriculture.

Night meetings will be held at Prairie du Chien Aug. 7, and at Richland Center Aug. 8.

AWAITING EQUIPMENT FOR HOTEL ADDITION

The addition to the Conway hotel is almost completed, and the contractors are awaiting the arrival of new laundry equipment which is to be installed on the second floor of the structure. Two boilers have been installed in the boiler pits, and the interior of the building decorated. The entrance to the main hotel building by way of the tramway has also been completed. Hotel laundry will be carried to the washrooms in the new addition by way of the tramway.

Who's Who In Dogdom No. 4

There is not a dog show where the customers do not ask, "What has become of the Pug?"

At one time the Pug was the most popular dog in the United States. Now the Pug is almost as extinct as the Dodo. In a few years there probably will not be another Pug dog in the country.

The reason is the change in style of dogs. A number of years ago the Airedale held the peak in popularity. Later it was the Chow. Now it is the Shepherd, better known as the German Police Dog. Soon it will be another breed, perhaps the Doberman Pinscher. No single breed of dog can keep top place in the popularity contest for more than five years; at least, no breed ever has.

The Pug came from China. It was associated with the nobility. Its appearance was dignified although the dog did lack the intelligence of some of the other breeds.

All shortfaced varieties of dogs lack intelligence to a certain degree. English and French Bull dogs and Pekingeses are prominent short-faced varieties. The Pug was short-faced, like the Pekingeses. The Pug is said to have descended from the smooth-coated Pekingeses.

Nearly all the Pugs that our fathers owned or knew were black. The original color was fawn. Forty years ago the first black Pugs appeared. They were secured by taking fawn-colored Pugs to China and crossing them with blacks. It has always been said that the fawns were crossed with black Pekingeses.

So the Pug, once the most beloved and popular of all dogs in the United States, was an out and out Chinese dog. The Pug has passed and some future generation may ask, "What's become of the Airedale?" or the Chow, the French Bulldog, or any other breed.

Sees No Importance In Ancient French Titles

Paris—(AP)—Discussion as to whether Marguerite Watson as the wife of the Duke de Nemours is a real duchess or not has raised the question of the status of royal and imperial titles in France and given the all wool and a yard wide aristocrats a chance to say what they really think about titles.

Prince Lucinge-Faucigny, one of the purest blooded of all French nobility, is against him. He would like to see the titles suppressed.

"What prestige has a title of nobility?" he asks. "It is more often simply appropriated than real. The title has no importance. It is the man that counts nowadays and, believe me, the very old French families can get along very well without titles. Furthermore, by suppressing real titles the false ones would be obliterated at the same stroke."

He opposes a measure which has slumbered for years on the calendar of the Chamber of Deputies, to recognize titles in France, tax them heavily and even create new titles. The only return the government now gets on titles is from what is called the

RADIO VOICE MADE YOUNG A CANDIDATE

Went to Convention a Delegate but Now Stands Good Chance for Senate Seat

Boston—B. Loring Young had to go all the way from Boston to Kansas City to sell himself to the folks of Massachusetts. He left for the Republican convention a more delegate, he returned as the probable Republican nominee for United States Senator.

The radio turned the trick. At Kansas City, the Massachusetts delegates decided to place the name of Governor Alvan T. Fuller in the contest for vice president. It was pretty obvious, however, that a thankless job and none of the delegates wanted it. So they turned to Young.

Until then, Loring Young had been only a name to most of Massachusetts, even though he had served as speaker of its House of Representatives. But his radio address pleased the people back home.

"There," said the Republican voters, "is the man we've been looking for."

So Young is practically assured of the Republican nomination. An unofficial party convention at Boston has ratified his name. His Democratic opponent for the Senate will be David I. Walsh, the present Senator.

B. Loring Young—the "B" stands for Benjamin—has been running for something, and winning it, ever since he was a youngster. In his college days, he ran for Harvard—and he was one of the best quarter-milers the Crimson has ever had. After graduation, he ran for selection of his home town, Weston, then for State Representative, and then for speaker of the House. Four years ago, he gave up office-holding temporarily so that he might catch up with his law practice.

Now he's running again.

"Investiture tax," a sum due for a certificate attesting that the holder is the son of his father. It guarantees no titles. The tax, fixed by Napoleon, runs from 5,150 francs for a duke down to 45 francs, less than $2 for a knight.

Titles are bought and sold like shares in the stock market today. The Prince Lucinge-Faucigny declares indignantly.

However, the American girl, who has married a bone fide title, the aristocrats generally agree, need have no apprehension as to its desirability. Titles exist in France without explicit recognition by the government, but without hindrance either.

Nobility was abolished in France by the revolution in 1789; it was restored again in 1814 after Napoleon had been exiled and royalty was again triumphant. The revolution of 1848 again put an end to it but the second Napoleon reinstated it in 1852. The question was either overlooked or ignored when the constitution of the Third Republic was drawn. Some people hold that President Doumergue might today create all the dukes, marquises, counts and barons he chose without violating the constitution.

There were 30,000 noble families in France in 1870. None have been created since but the number has grown enormously. The reason is there is nothing in French law to prevent anyone from putting in front of his name the little preposition "de" which signifies noble origin.

CHILI FOREMOST IN IODINE MONOPOLY

Washington—(AP)—The only hope of lower prices for iodine, which has become a scarce in the treatment of goiter, lies in the development of new industrial uses for the product in the opinion of the department of commerce.

A department official says the United States depends almost entirely upon the Chilean nitrate industry for its supplies of iodine, and Chile is the dominant factor in a combine formed with France and Scotland to control prices and allocate markets. The breakdown of the monopolistic features of the nitrate industry department experts declare, has had no apparent effect on the iodine monopoly.

During the past year the Chilean iodine industry has been reorganized to provide for active government supervision and the right to declare a government monopoly of iodine at any time. The market now is largely restricted to the medical field, resulting in the high price fixed by the producers. If a greater demand were assured, Chilean producers might be encouraged to recover vast quantities of iodine now thrown away and market it at much lower prices. It is pointed out here.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service

THIS HAS HAPPENED VIRGINIA BREWSTER is in love with a poor artist, NATHANIEL DANN, but she is tricked into promising to marry FREDERICK DEAN in one year if she fails to earn $100,000 which he alleges her father had cheated him out of in a bootlegging deal.

BREWSTER had lost his fortune in speculation before his sudden death so that VIRGINIA is left destitute. She pawns some of her jewelry and a broker friend, OLIVER CUTTER, promises to invest the money for her and try to earn the hundred thousand.

She avoids all her wealthy friends and seeks work under an assumed name, but without success. She finds orchids at her hotel one evening from DEAN and wonders how he learned of the agency. He tells her that he is a job-seeker and that she is being sought by a man who is interviewing her. She recognizes the man who has been following her.

CUTTER insists on taking VIRGINIA out to dinner and hints that there are several ways in which she can obtain the coveted hundred thousand. She challenges his remark and he pretends innocence. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXII

Oliver's distaste for gratitude did not disturb Virginia. He always had been impatient of most accepted standards of conduct and conventions. She remembered tolerantly. It would be like him to get her out of this appalling situation in which she found herself and attempt to pass it off with a negligent wave to his hand. She smiled over the thought of how she would startle him with the truth when she dared tell it. He would know then how much she owed him.

She unlocked the door and entered the small dark room with her mind filled with pictures of the future. Pleasant pictures. Automatically she switched on the light and took off her hat, still half-dreaming over the assurance of success she had received from Oliver.

It was several minutes before she noticed a box on the bed. Her first impression was that Frederick Dean had sent more flowers and she decided not to open the box. But a second glance revealed that it was not from a florist. The label was that of a famous modiste.

Virginia was curious to know why anything from that shop should be sent her. Perhaps it was something she had ordered before her father's death, she reflected. Often weeks were required to bring made-to-order lingerie and garments from Italy or France to America. She'd better see what it was. It would have to be returned unless it had been included in the bills already presented to the estate. Better send it back anyhow, if the shop would credit it, Virginia thought as she untied the tape and turned back the tissue folds.

When she held the contents up for inspection she could not recall having ordered anything of the kind. It was a cape wrap of silver metal lace, exquisitely made. Virginia gazed at it admiringly a moment before she threw it over her shoulders and looked in the mirror. It was richly smart with the black chiffon dress she was wearing and Virginia took it off and put it back in the box with as much sign of reluctance.

She was retying the tape when her telephone rang and she answered, to be told that Nathaniel Dann was downstairs. Virginia's heart sang with joy. She darted about, washing her hands at the stained lavatory in the corner, touching her ear lobes with perfume and setting the waves of her bob more smoothly.

She was about to hurry out when it occurred to her that Nathaniel would want to take her to some better place than the hotel parlor to talk. Turning back to get a light wrap, her eyes fell upon the box on the bed. She stopped, breathless with delight at the thought that came to her. Why not wear it? It must belong to her. She had bought nothing since her mourning clothes were purchased. Surely the bill for this was among the accounts rendered. Possibly it had been paid for. And it was very lovely.

With quick, nervous fingers Virginia tore at the tape and pulled off the lid. Hastily and a little guiltily, she threw the wrap about her and whirled out of the room.

Her feeling of guilt vanished completely in the happiness of seeing Nathaniel's face light up with admiration when she rushed eagerly up to him. Her eyes fairly sparkled and not have done it," Nathaniel said reproachfully when at last they had found a secluded bench. "Life isn't long enough."

Virginia drew away from the arm he put out to encircle her waist. "Do you think we can live every hour to please ourselves?" she asked.

"Well, if it didn't please you to go out with someone else why did you do it?" Nathaniel pressed. "Is there anyone who has a greater right to be with you than I have, Virginia?"

"Niel, I'm afraid you're trying to be difficult. We both acted foolishly. You shouldn't have been so disagreeable when I telephoned you, and I should have told you that I meant to come down to your studio after dinner."

"Why didn't you?"

"Because I was mad when you gave me a short answer. You wouldn't say whether you would be in or not."

"I'm sorry. I've been sorry all evening. But you haven't answered my question. I can't understand why you broke our date."

Virginia opened her mouth to speak, closed it, and sat silent, casting about in her mind for a safe reply.

"I met an old friend who was extremely depressed and wanted me to have dinner with him," she said at last. "I couldn't refuse because I am under obligation to him for a great kindness."

Nathaniel sensed a reserve in her explanation that left him feeling vaguely dissatisfied. "Well, I hope he considers himself sufficiently repaid," he said crossly. "He's taken one good evening out of my life."

LITTLE JOE

A LOT OF TROUBLE IS GAINED WITHOUT A LOT OF TROUBLE.

"I thought you wouldn't mind," Virginia replied soothingly. "Don't you want to help me pay my debts?"

"If you put it that way, what am I to say? But I hope you won't bankrupt our fund of time paying off old debts," Nathaniel grumbled.

"We wouldn't be near quarreling so often if you would just realize that you haven't a monopoly on love, Niel," Virginia cautioned him tremulously. "I want to be happy as much as you do, only I can't turn my back on everybody else just to live for myself."

"Thanks."

"Niel, please don't be stupid. I don't mean I think you would do it either. I know you wouldn't, but you seem to want me to without realizing what you do."

"That's not quite right," Nathaniel protested. "I said I hoped you hadn't many bad debts to pay off."

"You seemed to think I minded it less than you do."

"Now that's a remark deserving a kiss," Nathaniel exclaimed, and made good.

"It's time to go," Virginia declared when he released her. "We'll be getting in trouble with an officer in your going to act like this."

"Nobody, not even a cop, would blame me."

Virginia glanced at her watch. She was now most of the time, chiefly because it was one of the very few ornaments she had less attractive than any kitchen rag could have been.

With desperately furious speed she gathered it up and threw it into the box in which it had arrived. Then she summoned a bell-boy with such impatience he thought she must be trying to catch a steamer.

"Take this downstairs and tell them to return it to the shop that sent it," she ordered, thrusting the box upon the boy. "Right way," she added, and handed him a tip.

When he was gone she went to the telephone and called Dean's residence. There was a wait of several moments before the servant who answered informed her that Mr. Dean would be on the wire presently.

Virginia's hand shook the receiver against her ear and she bit her underlip to stop its trembling. Now that she had followed her impulse to reach the man who was tormenting her she found herself wondering if it could do any good to talk to him. But whether it would or not she felt compelled to take some action, to protest against his having her spied upon, if nothing else. He wasn't playing fair. . . .

Virginia grimaced at the thought. Fair! Could she expect fairness of Frederick Dean?

"Good morning," she heard him saying a moment later. "Sorry to keep you waiting, my dear. Morning tea. Have you called to thank me for the wrap? Charming idea, copying the old ecclesiastical chasubles, isn't it?"

A Half-Time Warning May Be a Danger

YOU'VE often noted the risk of disaster at that "half-time" type of track warning. A live watchman to step out and flag you from danger part of the time. Then just when you get the unconscious habit of depending on him, he's off the job with only an easily-overlooked sign-board to tell you to do your own watching.

The same kind of trap is responsible for so many gas disasters to motors. For the cold half of the year old man Hard Starting forbids the use of poor, trashy gas, but when warm weather takes him off the job, your vigilance lets down—and there's left only the printed warning to keep you from the fatal step of assuming safety in any gas that can be made to start.

That's why this message is being repeated, re-emphasized, re-asserted over and over again... and will continue to be until there's no chance of your missing the big outstanding FACTS:

Wadhams 370

- the Year-Round Gasoline

is the gasoline of summer safety for the identical reason that made its use a virtual necessity in the hard starting days — correct materials that contain no kerosenish, motor-destructive elements of any sort at any season. Protection at its very base.

And, always at the base of poor, trashy gas, the opposite condition—logy, kerosenish materials used as profit-making filler regardless of their harmful dilution of oil, ruin to valve action and damage from carbon gumming.

A trifle easier starting in warm weather means nothing except that the watchman is gone. The danger hasn't been—can't be—removed. It stays right there — doubly menacing in the season when your motor is most used!

INVITE FRIENDS OF GUARDSMEN TO CAMP ON GOVERNOR'S DAY

Entire Day Will Be Devoted to Visiting and Parading for Chief Executive

An invitation to come to Camp Douglas, Sunday, Aug. 5, and visit members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, encamped there, has been extended to Appleton and Outagamie county officials and all others in the city interested in the guard, by Capt. Clyde Schroeder, commanding officer. The day is annual governor's and visitor's day.

The public visiting day is the first break in the week's work which started Monday and marks the end of the first week of camp. Friends and relatives of members of the company will be able to come to the camp all day and take mess with the company at noon.

The usual program will be followed for days activities with Catholic church services at 8 o'clock in the morning and regimental church services for the 127th Infantry, of which company D is a part, at 9:15.

At 11 o'clock, all troops will assemble on one of ranges under the command of the commanding general of the 4th brigade, pending arrival of special trains to camp at 11:15. The governor's salute of 19 guns will be fired given at this time. Band music and the governor's address of welcome will follow. Mess and band concerts will wind up the morning program.

Dismounted guard mount by members of Co. K, 127th Infantry, will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon followed by massed athletics. At 4:30, the governor will review all troops and at 6:30 the special trains will leave.

While all railroads with lines near Camp Douglas will run special trains on Governor's day, Appleton people will probably make the trip in cars because of the extra convenience. The shortest route appears to be from Appleton to Oshkosh, west on state highway 21 to Neenah, south on state highway 89 to New London and then west on federal highway 12 to Hustler and north on state highway 92.

5 NEW SCHOLARSHIPS ARE MADE AVAILABLE AT LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Come from Estate of LaVerne Noyes and Are for World War Veterans

Five new scholarships will be available to deserving Lawrence college students in 1928-29, and one in 1929-30, according to an announcement from the college office.

The five scholarships, known as the LaVerne Noyes scholarships, are from the estate of LaVerne Noyes, and are to be given students who have served in the army or navy during the World War. The purpose of Mr. Noyes in establishing these scholarships was to express his gratitude to, and in a slight degree to reward, those who ventured the supreme sacrifice of life for this country in the war, and also to aid in keeping alive the spirit of unselfish patriotic devotion which these men displayed. A clause in the will also provides that anyone descended by blood from someone who served in the World War is eligible for the scholarship.

The loan scholarship to be available in 1929-30 is from the educational foundation of the American Bankers Association. The Wisconsin quota of this scholarship fund permits only two colleges in Wisconsin, Beloit and Lawrence, to receive funds from the educational foundation and these colleges receive their allotment only in alternate years. Beloit will receive the scholarship this year and Lawrence next. The donation amounts to $250 and is to be given a student majoring in economics.

DECIDE ON COST OF NEW WATER MAINS

Board of Public Works Recommends Storm Sewer Near Proposed Subway

Property owners on Brewster, Mason, Outagamie, W. Spring, Summit, W. Seymour, Wisconsin-ave., Tontec, Sardin and Ouwassens will be required to pay 60 cents a running foot for installation of water mains on these streets, it was decided at the meeting of the board of public works Wednesday afternoon.

The board recommended that the 48 inch storm sewer on Wisconsin-ave be extended from the proposed subway site approximately 100 feet to the railroad culvert; that easement be secured for the construction of this sewer across the property of William Van Wyk, and that the board enter into an agreement with John Bogan & Sons for the construction of this sewer.

DIVIDES FREAKISH, INTELLIGENT ART

Make Sharp Distinction in Different Departments of Minneapolis School

Minneapolis — (AP) — A sharp distinction between that in art which is freakish and that which is intelligent and original was drawn today by Ella M. Witter, head of the art department, Central high school, Minneapolis, in a lecture before the National Conference of Art Education.

"The many isms in modern art, its great variety of expression, its use of unusual mediums," she said, "have given rise to a widespread idea that modern art is freakish, ugly and crude, produced by incompetents, subnormal and the commercially dishonest. Modern exhibitions and press art criticism cause long and sometimes heated discussions, adding to the laymen's confusion. This problem of modern art must be met by every live art instructor."

"Always there has been modern art. Possibly at no other period have the methods of expression been so varied. Competent art critics judge a large proportion of the modern so-called art as poor. Every new movement has its weak members. Our aim must be to get the viewpoint of the intelligent modernist and to understand his method of approach."

Miss Witter said that the teaching of decorative design was in advance of the understanding of pictorial design. "The naturalistic rose is gone," she said. "Joyful creative work within design limitations has long been encouraged. Picture making must be developed with this larger vision, primarily it must be the design, the creative building of the whole with lines, planes and forms rhythmically related in deep space. Such was the realization of the old masters."

N. Appleton St. 1700 Block. Ald. McGilgan moved to adopt. Motion carried.

Report of Police and License Committee. The Committee on Police and License recommended that Junk Licenses be issued to the following persons to wit: Ben Cavert, L. Cimion, S. Sumpinsky, A. Kiminsky, Louis Blacher, Sam Shilsky, Geo. T. Richard, Chairman. Ald. Richard moved to adopt.

Report from Chief of Police, Gen. T. Prim, was read and ordered placed on file.

Report of Judiciary Committee. The Judiciary Committee recommended that the claim of George Frazer be allowed at $30.00. W. H. Vanderheyden, Chairman. Ald. Diderich moved to adopt. Roll call. All affirmative present voted aye. Motion carried. Ald. Mayor Rule read.

Carl Becker, City Clerk.

In the proceedings of the Common Council dated July 21, 1928, I find the following resolution:

That in the matter of the Wisconsin Avenue Subway the committee recommends the awarding of the contract to the lowest bidder of each item.

Moved to adopt seconded and carried.

I am now filing my veto to this resolution for the following reasons:

The cost of the bid is $300,000. Railroad estimate is $250,000. Town and Grand Chute estimate is $300,000.

Total cost of subway $1,250,000. The Highway Commission is to pay one half of the public cost not to exceed one fourth of the total cost of the subway. One fourth of the cost of subway is $312,500. So of this amount Town of Grand Chute will receive $312,500 and city of Appleton $312,500 leaving a balance of the low bid for Appleton to pay of $625,000.

Plus Miscellaneous inspection, etc. of property 6000.00

Plus estimated property damage of 20000.00

Total cost of city's share of subway $825,000.00

which is $525,000 more than the $300,000 the city council and citizens voted to pay for the city's share of the subway.

The finances of the city do not warrant such expenditures except those absolutely necessary. We had not money in the general fund of $250,000. and after orders issued were cancelled because that time have received from the county our share of income tax $3212.62.

Will receive from Traction Company 45000.00

Water Dept. paid city 16000.00

Total receipts and receipts for subway $61,126.62

Your present plan involves the following items:

Your existing contract let with lowest bidder $5733.00

Your new contracts let $24000.00

Subway $25000.00

Onida Street Bridge repairs 12000.00

Intersect sewer 10000.00

Interest 10000.00

$59,959.60

Less returns on sewer and paving 75000.00

Total expenditures for balance of year $434059.00

Less receipts 154212.62

Amount we will borrow $279846.38

I am not sure, but I do not think the City is allowed to borrow that amount on its tax warrant and if it can what are you going to do with the money on next year. In the 1927 tax warrant turned over approximately $350,000 to the general fund, and it will take very much more than $20,000 to pay your loans.

After the Circuit Court decision in the County Tax case we learned that getting the $100,000 from the Supreme Court was a long haul for the county and we cannot figure on the money.

If we had the $100,000 and did not build the subway at a cost of $250,000, and postponed until after sewer at a cost of $250,000, we might have finished the sewer with a balance from $100,000 to $150,000. But with the program of the sewer we need it will take a long time to get it.

A Wall Rack

Remove the cover carefully and save it. Take off both sides by withdrawing the nails and cut off each end of the sides, making them the exact length of the box inside.

Secure the sides with nails, driven through each end and the bottom. Plane off the edges and use sandpaper to remove any blemishes. Bore a hole an eighth-inch in diameter in the center of each end, four inches down from the top edge of the rack. Insert the hanging wires through the holes and knot their ends tightly. Stain any color you desire. (Next: Crating)

CALUMET COUNTY KAUKAUNA FOLKS BEGIN THINKING ABOUT GOLF CLUB

Business and Sportsmen Believe Electric City Should Have Links

Kaukauna — A group of local business and sportsmen have begun promoting a golf course here and while there have been no definite plans given out as yet it is very likely that within the next year a golf course will be assured for this city.

Several suitable sites for a course have been examined by those who are interested in the project with the idea of securing an option on the one that seems best adapted to being fitted into a course. One of these sites is just beyond the city limits on County Trunk Z just east of the city; another is on County Trunk Z near Combined Locks, west of the city; and a third is on Highway 41 between Kaukauna and Appleton.

While no progress is being made on organization men who are interested in the proposed golf course say that some action probably will be taken this fall when local businessmen have completed their vacations and will have time to consider the question. Probably the matter will be placed before the Kaukauna Advancement association for consideration.

Those who are backing the plan don't care to have their names mentioned in connection with the promotion at present but they said they felt certain that by next summer Kaukauna would have a temporary course opened to those golf fans that live here.

At present, one man pointed out, there are many Kaukauna fans who like to play golf but have no opportunity to do so because there is no course in the vicinity at which they can play. There are two clubs at Appleton but one must either be a member of the club or the guest of a member to play on the links there.

If Kaukauna had a course, he said, he felt that many residents would take advantage of it.

In addition to furnishing recreation, this proponent of the plan said, a golf course would be a valuable addition to the city because tourists who travel through the Fox River valley and stop at Kaukauna often want to play golf and when there is no course they must go on to Green Bay or Appleton.

WOMAN FIRES GUN TO SCARE INTRUDER

Kaukauna Police Nab Man Trying to Use Porch as Shelter from Rain

Kaukauna—Persons living on Lincoln-ave were aroused from their beds about midnight Wednesday by the report of a gun. Investigation revealed that Mrs. William Derriks had shot the gun into the air to scare away a man who refused to move off her back porch.

The police were summoned and Stanley Stevedovsky of Rhinelander who was the cause of the disturbance was taken to the police station and was kept there overnight. Thursday noon Mr. Stevedovsky was taken to Appleton and will appear for trial next Tuesday on a charge of drunkenness.

Stevedovsky said that he went on the back porch of the Derriks' home because he had been ordered out of the depot waiting room and he did not want to remain out in the rain.

ELECTRICIANS LOSE IN OVERTIME GAME

Kaukauna—The Postoffice won an overtime game from the Electricians by a score of 12 to 11 in a softball Twilight League game Thursday evening. The first seven innings ended with a nine to nine score. In the first overtime period the Electricians scored two runs in the Postoffice team brought in three runs to win the game in their half.

Batteries for the Postoffice were Engerson and Kreptow and for the Electricians Mertes and McMorrow. Both pitchers went good and were well supported by their teammates.

This was the last game to be played this week and Monday evening the Postoffice will battle with the champion Mulforders. Both teams are tied for first place and a good game is expected.

POLICE HAVE LITTLE TROUBLE WITH HOBOES

Kaukauna—Local police are having very little trouble with hoboes who apply at the local station for a night's lodging. Only once in a great while does a single hobo or possibly two, ask for a night's shelter. Those who do ask for shelter are allowed to sleep in a cell overnight but are not given breakfast the next morning.

NO MORE SWIMMING IN KAUKAUNA LOCK

Kaukauna—Swimming in the guard lock was stopped by the police department Thursday because the place is too dangerous. A few years ago a boy was drowned there and the police do not want such an occurrence again.

BUILD DANCE FLOOR AT LA FOLLETTE PARK

Kaukauna—Workmen are erecting a temporary dance floor in LaFollette park which will be used during the two-day Labor Day celebration here Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2 and 3. The event is being sponsored by the Moose lodge, the Moose band and the Kaukauna Trades and Labor council. According to Mayor W. C. Sullivan, it is possible that a dance may be staged at the open-air pavilion next week and if there is a good crowd, an effort may be made to erect a permanent dance pavilion.

CITY INTERESTED IN GETTING NEW PLANT

Large Number of Business Men Expected at Advancement Club Meeting Tonight

Kaukauna—Much interest is being shown by the business men in Kaukauna in the fact that a new plant wants to locate in Kaukauna, and many of them will attend the meeting of the Green Bay Helgerson Steel company officials and the Kaukauna Advancement association at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the municipal building.

Many rumors are circulating about the city concerning the plant which wants to locate here on account of the low cost electricity. One man from Green Bay is said to have offered $50,000 to the enterprise. Some business men here said they believed that they would be expected to back the undertaking.

Many merchants favor the plan and a few do not want the plant to locate here and some of the business men are waiting until after the meeting Friday when the proposition will be made clear before they decided if they want the Green Bay plant here.

Social Items

Kaukauna—St. Anne court of Women Catholic Order of Foresters will have a memorial mass for the late Mrs. Matthew Jackels at 6:45 Sunday morning. The members of the court will receive communion in a body.

All members of the local American Legion are requested by Post-commander, Edward Haase, to meet at the Legion hall at 12:30 Saturday afternoon in uniform. They will have charge of the funeral of Earnest Sasnowski.

Miss Jenieve Hoolihan entertained a bridge party at her home on Margaret-st Thursday evening in honor of Miss Helen Callahan of Chicago, who is visiting in Kaukauna. Honors were won by Misses Florence and Mae Kaeting of Appleton.

SASNOWSKI FUNERAL SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Earnest Sasnowski, 34, who was killed here Wednesday evening, will be held from 12:30 to 2:30 Saturday afternoon at St. Anthony's church. The Rev. P. Oehlert will have charge of the services.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sasnowski. Kaukauna; four sisters, Alma, Frieda, Mrs. Albert Balk, and Mrs. Otto Trettin of Kaukauna; three brothers, Herman, Jr., Edward and August of Kaukauna. The Kaukauna American Legion will have charge of the funeral.

KAUKAUNA MAN APPEARS IN SILVER SCREEN ROLE

Kaukauna—Hewey O'Connell, who lived and went to school in Kaukauna about 18 years ago has again appeared in Kaukauna, but this time on the screen. Many persons attended the moving picture "The Racket" which was shown by the Vandette theater Wednesday and Thursday to see Mr. O'Connell take the part of the comedian reporter in the picture. His screen name is Pat Collins.

Mr. O'Connell has been on the stage for a number of years and when he was visiting in Kaukauna about three months ago mentioned the fact that he was in the movie and had acted in the picture being shown.

BAND WILL PLAY AT PICNIC OF TRAVELERS

Kaukauna—The Nittingale orchestra of this city has been engaged to play at the United Commercial Travelers' picnic at Menasha next Tuesday.

According to Norman Gerhart, manager. This band also will furnish music for dancing at the two-day Labor day celebration here in September. This band was formerly the Electric City orchestra.

MOOSE BAND TO GIVE CONCERT ON TUESDAY

Kaukauna—The next free band concert by the Kaukauna Moose band will be given at the Tourist park next Thursday, according to Norman Gerhart, manager. The concerts are popular in the city and one of the largest crowds that ever attended a concert was present at the last one. The band is directed by E. W. Wiedenbeck.

BASEBALL FANS SATISFIED WITH LES SMITH'S TEAM

Team Will Have Number of Rooters in Stands at Fond du Lac Next Sunday

Kaukauna—Local baseball fans are well satisfied with the showing Les Smith's sluggers are making in the Fox River Valley league and many have signified their intention of going to Fond du Lac to see the Electric and the Fondy nine mix in what they expect will be an interesting fray next Sunday.

Kaukauna already has taken a few falls out of the Fond du Lac nine but they were close games. Fond du Lac has always caused the Kawmen trouble so Manager Smith is taking no chances by letting his men ease up on practice. Every night finds them out on the ball grounds swatting the pill and throwing it around as though the season was still in its infancy.

Les Smith who is fifth in batting average of the league is trying hard to come out of his temporary slump. He leads the league in home runs although he is only one homer ahead of Son Tornow. Appleton second baseman, Les has six and Tornow has five homers to his credit.

Fond du Lac trimmed Nee-Menasha last Sunday and word received here is that the hard luck that they have been playing in thus far this season has at last disappeared and that they are ready for the Kawmen. L. Schram who is said to be the best pitcher in the league will be on the mound. He has held the Kawmen to low scores and if his teammates can hit Abbott enough to enable them to make a few scores Fond du Lac likely will win.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT JOHN KILAWEE FUNERAL

Kaukauna—Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Mary's church for John Kilawee, 92, one of Kaukauna's oldest citizens, who died at his home on Second-st Tuesday morning. Money Rates On Par With Those Of Five Years Ago

New York—(AP)—As an aftermath of the big bull stock market the New York money market has in recent weeks eclipsed even stock and bond activities in public attention.

Money rates have soared to levels approximately those of 1923, due largely to increased demand for credit and such additional factors as exports of gold, decline in Federal Reserve member bank reserves and sale of securities by the Federal Reserve.

No great change in the high level of market loans has taken place in a month or more.

Market observers see several possibilities of easier rates, but few probabilities. Stabilization of currency by several foreign countries which have imported gold may result in a return of the metal, but with stabilization so recent this is only a possibility.

Another line in decline of security market of a commercial demand for credit, with no positive indications that either will take place. Repurchase of government securities by the Federal Reserve would have an easing effect, but since the Federal Reserve apparently is determined to curb speculation this factor also cannot be regarded as a probability. The period of seasonal relaxation in credit demand is nearly over with the customary fall requirements drawing near. This influence evidently will be negligible.

Generally the future of money rates is believed to rest with the Federal Reserve.

Cabinet Place Is Sought For Secretary Of Roads

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—Consolidation of highway control in the United States, under a cabinet officer to be known as the secretary of highway, is proposed by the United States Good Roads association.

The organization will hold its annual meeting here May 28 to June 1 and expects to set in motion sentiment for the proposal. Federal participation in the construction and maintenance of a national system of interstate highways is another objective which will have a place in the discussion.

Delegates will come from every section of the country, says J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, director general of the organization. Governors of as many as a dozen states and 15 state highway engineers are expected to attend.

Rep. Edward E. Browne of Wisconsin has offered to address the convention in explanation of his bill proposing that the money France owes the United States for war materials be turned over to the states for road building.

Other speakers will include—Reps. W. P. Healey of Illinois, who has sponsored a bill for the building of a system of highways throughout the nation; E. B. Almon of Alabama, who will discuss federal aid from the point of view of 12 years' service on the house roads committee, and Charles G. Edwards of Georgia.

The organization urges that a minimum annual appropriation for federal aid be set at $100,000,000. Other objectives of the association are: To memorialize congress to restore highways in flooded regions without state assistance; to permit the names as well as the numbers of transcontinental highways to appear on federal marking shields and to defeat any attempt to place a tax on road and street improvement bonds.

RETIRING RUSSIAN DUKE GETS $400,000 A YEAR

Darmstadt—(AP)—Grand Duke Ernst Ludwig of Hesse, who ruled over a territory about one-third the size of New Jersey until the German revolution in 1918, is now drawing $400,000 a year, according to the German press, is now definitely on the retired list.

Lawyers have grown fat in the ten years it has taken to settle the financial details connected with the grand duke's abdication, but the latter has finally relinquished all claims on land and other property estimated worth $5,000,000, ownership of which now is vested in the new free state of Hesse.

From the Hessian treasury the grand duke will draw besides $250,000 cash, a total of $3,000,000 spread over a period of 20 years.

The grand duke's mother was Princess Alice of Great Britain, and one of his sisters, Victoria, married Prince Louis of Battenberg, who later assumed the English title of Marquis of Milford Haven. His other sister, Irene, is the wife of the former Kaiser's brother, Henry of Prussia.

PROHIBITION MEN SAY COURT RULING HURTS THEIR WORK

Circuit Judge Says Eight Days Is Too Long to Wait Before Getting Warrant

Madison—(AP)—After another obstacle to enforcement of the dry law, that's the view taken by the state prohibition department on Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppman's decision that eight days are too long an elapsed time between dates on which a warrant is alleged to be sold and issuance of a warrant.

Judge Hoppman ordered sheriff's forces of Sauk to return to Mrs. Anna Wood, Escalante, beer and wine taken from her. He reiterated the supreme court's ruling that mere possession of liquor is not a violation of the law.

What the prohibition department would like to know is how many days constitute a "reasonable" length of time between issuance of a warrant and seizure of liquor.

It has always stipulated 30 days adequate and points out that often in its investigations it is compelled to wait more than a week before warrants can be issued.

And another phase of the question which enters in is the probability of different interpretations of the law throughout the state. While Judge Hoppman may consider eight days too long a period, another judge may rule that in his judicial circuit thirty days is the right length of time. Such a situation would further complicate matters for the department.

One state reason which would tend to settle the Bureau of case against the supreme court, so that they might obtain a ruling which would apply to the entire state.

A state-wide ruling which held warrants must be based on hearsay was recently handed down by the supreme court. While that ruling in a measure limited the activities of law and order department, it at least state them something definite as to which the old work throughout the state.

A few days periods in the state law enforcement practices that many more uniformed officers will be sent to the state.

SOFT DRINK PARLORS GOOD NEIGHBORS, RULING

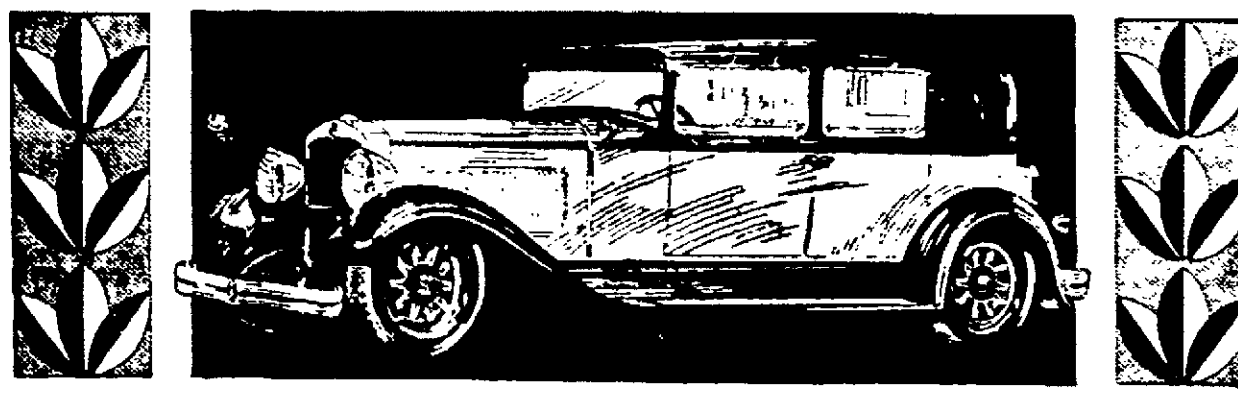

Madison—(AP)—The respectability of soft drink saloons is defended by the attorney general of Wisconsin.

He has informed the commissioners of public lands that such places provide good neighbors even for school children.

The commission had asked whether the fact that a proposed site for a new school building was located near a soft drink establishment would have any bearing on its desirability for school purposes. None in the least, the legal department replied, pointing out that every soft drink proprietor has been officially and legally recognized as a good and proper person. City councils and similar boards are instructed by law to issue licenses only to "respectable" persons.

Press the Pedal and oil your car

Motor cars of high price, such as the Rolls Royce, prize Bijur centralized chassis lubrication as an invaluable feature. Nash, at moderate price, has it as standard equipment on all "400" Advanced Six Models. Bijur operation is simplicity itself—and it is invariably efficient regardless of changes in temperature. There's a lever conveniently placed for your left toe at the floor board. Simply depress it once and 21 points are automatically oiled, including all spring shackles. Bother and expense of service station lubrication are eliminated. Wear at vital chassis points is avoided. Annoying squeaks and groans are stopped before they start. The world has a new and finer motor car, with features of excellence hitherto found only on very costly cars. Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication is one of them.

HORTONVILLE FARM RAID YIELDS HUGE BEER MAKING PLANT

Three Men Arrested When Federal Men Act on Tip Sent Commissioner

Three men arrested by federal prohibition agents on a farm about three miles east of Hortonville early Friday morning were to be arraigned Friday before United States Court Commissioner Charles Ullrich at Oshkosh.

Those arrested were Ernest Beyer, New London, found on the farm; Edward Muskevitch, New London, and Alfred Freimuth, Shiocton, who arrived at the farm in an automobile several hours after the raid was staged.

The four raiders were sent out as a result of a complaint received by W. Frank Cunningham, federal prohibition commissioner, Milwaukee. They arrived at the farm about 11 o'clock Thursday night and placed Beyer under arrest after a search of the premises revealed a large amount of alleged home brew and home-brew manufacturing apparatus.

Included in the apparatus, which was destroyed by the agents, were 21 half-barrels of alleged beer, two quarter barrels of alleged beer, 45 jars of alleged beer ranging in size from 15 to 30 gallons, two small coolers, two carboys, one 50-pound pressure-filter, ten steel barrels, 85 empty water cans, one bottle capper and a large number of empty bottles and cases. A small quantity of the alleged home brew was kept for evidence.

Acting on the tip that there were several other men involved in the operations of the plant, the officers remained at the farmhouse.

About 2 o'clock Friday morning, a car entered the farm yard and in it were Muskevitch and Freimuth. When asked if they lived there Freimuth told the prohibition officers: "No, we're lost and we got on the wrong road."

Later, however, after they were identified by Beyer as having worked on the farm for several months, they admitted their part in the work. One of the officers said Friday morning.

Ray Barbuti Brings First Track Victory To America

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam—(P)—Ray Barbuti brought the United States its first running track victory of the Olympic games by winning the 400-meter championship Friday.

Barbuti, former Syracuse university football star, scored in brilliant style over a field of the greatest quarter mile runners in the world.

His victory saved the United States from utter rout in the track events as this was the last of the Olympic cinder path races with the exception of the relay.

Herman Phillips of the Illinois A. C., the second American to reach the final, also placed among the point winners, finishing sixth.

While Ritola of Finland won the 5,000 meter running championship two young Americans, Leo Lemmond and Macaulay Smith, were beaten after a game attempt to stay with the finishing Finner, Ritola and Nurmi, who jockeyed, setting the pace all the way. Lemmond finished fourth and Smith dropped out on the eighth lap.

Nurmi's defeat was his first in an Olympic final since 1920 when he was beaten in the same race by Joseph Guillemot, of France. Paavo has won seven finals in three Olympiads.

The point score for the 17 men's track and field events completed thus far, including the two which took place Friday follows, the totals being computed under the unofficial but general system of awarding ten points for first, five for second, four for third, three for fourth, two for fifth and one for sixth.

United States, 142; Finland, 64; Great Britain, 40; Sweden, 37; Germany, 34; Canada, 33; Japan, 15; South Africa 14; France, 10; Ireland, 10; Norway, 7; Hungary, 5; Haiti, 5.

With three of the day's five events completed, Jim Steward, husky young Californian, moved up to third place in his two day test of all around track and field ability, trailing the two Finnish stars Akilles Jarvinen and Paavo Yrjola.

Steward forged still farther toward the front with completion of the fourth event and was second to Jarvinen of Sweden for the four tests thus far. The American had 539.65 points and Jarvinen 526.55. These two have displaced the Finns as leaders.

Doherty of the United States was in fifth place with 298.45.

ELKS HOLD MEETING TO BOOST COMING STATE CONVENTION

Band Will Play and There Will Be Entertainment at Club Saturday Night

A "Booster" meeting of Elks will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the lodge rooms to arouse enthusiasm for the state convention at Oshkosh Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

The evening's entertainment will include a band concert by the Elk band directed by Edward Mumm, and there will be several local dancers and singers on the program.

The club hopes to send a large delegation to the convention.

Final plans for the state convention have been received here by the local Elks members.

The convention will be formally opened at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning when several addresses of welcome will be delivered.

A 6 o'clock dinner will conclude the day's program.

The feature of Friday's program will be a parade of the delegates led by a three hundred piece band and 24 drum corps.

A banquet Friday night will officially close the 1928 state Elks convention.

ELKS INVITE COOLIDGE
Manitowish—(P)—President Coolidge was invited Friday to spend a day as the guest of the Wisconsin Elks, who hold their annual convention at Oshkosh Aug. 8, 9 and 10.

The invitation was extended in a telegram sent by C. W. Arnold, Milwaukee, state president, and Thomas B. Mills, Superior, past grand exalted ruler, the only Wisconsin man living who once headed the national organization.

Work on the widening of the Carver curve will start as soon as the deeds for the necessary property have been filed, according to W. H. Graesser, chairman of the city council street and bridge committee.

It is expected that this will be accomplished within the next few weeks.

"LIMPY" CLEAVER GETS
25 YEARS, $10,000 FINE
Chicago—(P)—Charles "Limpy" Cleaver, ring leader of the band of robbers that held up a Grand Trunk train at Evergreen park last Feb. obtaining $123,000, Friday was sentenced by Federal Judge H. Wilkerson to serve 25 years in Atlanta Federal prison and fined $10,000 after his motion for a new trial had been overruled.

Milwaukee—(P)—Milwaukee police after a careful investigation Friday were inclined to discount the story of Charles "Limpy" Cleaver, convicted Chicago gangster, that he could name the man who robbed the Wisconsin Athletic club of several thousand dollars last January.

The holdup of the athletic club was a daring and carefully planned raid. Four armed men walked into the club about 5 p. m. lined up the cash and valuables. They also helped them selves to the stacks of a crap game which had been in progress.

CONSIDER APPLICANTS FOR CITY NURSE JOB
The city health board will consider applications to fill the vacancy of Miss Florence Wilpeltz for former city nurse, at its regular monthly meeting Saturday afternoon. Routine business also will be taken up.

Mrs. Harold Kampe and daughter, 930 W. Lorain-st., are visiting Mrs. Kampe's parents at Rhinelander.

Charles Freund of Seymour was in Appleton Friday on business.

LONE QUARANTINE PLACARD IN CITY

All quarantine placards except one for whooping cough have been removed by Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. The last quarantine to be lifted were for measles and smallpox.

Although it is unusual to have much smallpox at this time of the year, there were several cases of the disease here within the last month.

RELIEF FROM 'STICKY' WEATHER IS COMING

Weatherman Says Showers Friday Night and Saturday To Be Followed by Sunshine

Relief from the close and sticky atmosphere which has been prevalent in this vicinity for the past two days is expected to arrive here by Friday evening.

The weatherman says that the form of showers, according to the weatherman's predictions for the next 24 hours. The highest temperature recorded Friday was 80 degrees above zero.

About a half inch of rain fell during a heavy shower about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The showers will prevail Friday evening and Saturday, the weatherman says, and the mercury is due for a drop throughout the middle west.

Showers, prevalent in the upper and lower lake regions, will continue for the next 24 hours.

Winds in the south and southwest probably mean that fair weather will prevail here Sunday.

The mercury registered 67 degrees above zero early Friday morning and 78 degrees above at noon.

AL SMITH REFUSES EQUALIZATION FEE

Declares That Feature of McNary-Haugen Bill Unacceptable to Him

New York—(P)—Governor Smith put his foot down Friday on the equalization fee feature of the McNary-Haugen farm bill, declaring that it was unacceptable to him.

The Democratic presidential nominee declared that he recognizes the principle of controlling the sale of agricultural surpluses, the cost to be borne by the group benefited, but he has no definite plan in mind for carrying out that principle.

Smith was led into a brief discussion of his farm relief views Friday by newspapermen who sought more light on his statement issued Thursday after his conference with George N. Peek, Illinois farm leader, who has swung to his support.

TWO PAY PENALTY FOR DEATH OF PRISON CLERK

Baltimore, Md.—(P)—Charles P. Sparacino, Carey and Benjamin F. Sparacino, paid with their lives early Friday morning for the killing of Albert H. Walker, prison clerk, in an attempted escape from the Maryland State Penitentiary in July of 1927.

They were hanged in the death house of the prison from which they sought to escape.

Neither of the men's necks was broken in the first fall through the trap, and the bodies were left hanging until the victims had been strangled to death.

PALMER MANSION IS LAST OF CHICAGO'S OLD SOCIAL CENTERS

House Where Society of Gay
'90's Gathered Is Soon to Be Torn Down

BY WALTER T. BROWN
(Associated Press Feature Editor)
Chicago—(AP)—Progress has doomed the old Palmer "Castle," landmark of the reign of Mrs. Potter Palmer, the only social dictator ever to rule over Chicago's elite.
The relic of past glories when the most exclusive of the gangling western city lived along the "gold coast" is to give way to a hotel.
As austere and aloof as the chateaux who ruled it, and the society she graced for three decades, the "castle" has been elbowed into comparative insignificance by the towering apartment houses around it.
The Lake Shore Drive, that Mrs. Palmer, in the heyday of her power, knew as a shadow-mottled driveway for regal equipages now buzzes with the proletarian hurrying to and from work. Children with the burr of foreign lineage in their shouts crowd in from the congested west side to swim in Lake Michigan, almost beneath the windows of the "castle" turrets. Such was not done in the gorgeous '90's and '00's.
Modernity has effected few changes in the interior of the old place with its high ceilings, heavy tapestries, there gathered during the Columbian exposition the distinguished visitors of the world.
No, however, ever gained entrance whose social attainments were not of the highest, and whose lineage was not as Mrs. Palmer thought it should be. Wealth and position alone did not open the doors of the "castle."
Mrs. Palmer, the undisputed leader of Chicago, also was a power in social circles of the world. She maintained homes in London and Paris, and the affairs there were no less exclusive than those in Chicago.
An audience with her was obtained only after a message passed through 37 hands, butlers, maids, social secretaries and democracy's equivalent of ladies in waiting. Her closest friends made appointments in writing.
Mrs. Palmer rose to social dictatorship during the world's fair of 1893 when she served as president of the board of lady managers of the exposition. She died in 1918.
The most elaborate of the Palmer social functions were on New Year's Eve. An invitation was carte blanche to any of Chicago's social events of the ensuing year.
The Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward, father of the present king, was a guest of the "castle." Presidents Grant, Garfield and McKinley were entertained at the "castle" and the Infanta of Spain went there. The Infanta was at the Palmer home when she is said to have remarked, after partaking too freely of wine, that she would not be entertained by the daughter of an innkeeper.
Mrs. Palmer's father was a hotel proprietor.
Mrs. Palmer was welcome at any European court. When Czar Nicholas, the last of the Russian emperors, was crowned, Mrs. Palmer chartered a special boat and train to reach St. Petersburg for the coronation. Many of the Russian nobles returned with her to America to be guests at a house party.
Potter Palmer, a merchant, husband of the social queen, died in 1902, leaving an $8,000,000 fortune. His widow doubled it before her death. Potter, Jr. and Honore, sons, inherited the fortune. Honore sold his interest in the "castle" to Potter, who passed it along to Vincent Bendix, head of a manufacturing company, for $3,000,000. Bendix intends to build a hotel.
The Palmer family will continue to occupy the old home until after Bertha, the young daughter of Potter, makes her debut there.
The place remains as Mrs. Palmer wanted it, heavy with tapestries, lined with suits of armor and dotted with busts of ancient and noble Romans. Friends besought her to change it, but to no avail.
Ambitious leaders have sought to establish as firm a dictatorship over Chicago society as Mrs. Palmer maintained but none was successful. When her hands dropped the scepter her subjects scattered and the one domain became several.

FIND FEWER DEALERS SELLING CIGARETTES

Most Firms Requiring Licenses Have Obtained Them, Clerk's Report Shows

There are 111 shops selling cigarettes in Appleton this year, as against 140 last year, according to a report from Carl Becker, city clerk. Soft drink licenses have been given to 35 persons.

Practically all persons requiring licenses have made applications according to Mr. Becker, and the few who have not yet applied will be turned over to the police department.

About 76 milk licenses have been written and the cases of the four or five milk dealers who have not obtained permits will be investigated within the next few days.

Four poolroom licenses have been given out, as compared with eleven last year; six junk dealer licenses against thirteen in 1931; seven sewer digger licenses against five last year; and two second hand store permits against three last year. The same number of sidewalk builders, theatre, bill posters, plumbers, and druggist liquor licenses were given out this year as last.

LAST SOCIAL CENTER OF CHICAGO'S BYGONE DAYS

A hotel is to replace the austere mansion in Chicago where the late Mrs. Potter Palmer reigned for years as the city's social dictator. On Lake Shore drive apartments already have elbowed it into comparative insignificance.

Dictionary Needed If You Would Study These Theses

Madison—(AP)—About thirteen million words, most of them expensive ones, have recently been placed in the files of the state historical library.

The words, in 550 theses of University of Wisconsin students, are on 21,000 pages of foolscap.

They represented only a small part of the effort of those who are popularly supposed to do little but cheer at football games, swim, play ukuleles and dance. They are "expensive" because of the work that has been put in research previous to their being written, because of the money spent in having them typed and just for the simple reason that a lot of them are big, expensive words.

Of course some of the shortest theses represent some of the longest researches and some of the longest theses contain liberal quotations from research-ed authors, often times quoted by students who believe the author to have a more facile and industrious pen than theirs.

Controversial subjects seem to be creeping in, in greater preponderance than in former years. The reporter finds. And some of the theses, as usual, appear to be on subjects of no immediate practical bearing.

Some of them stagger under the load of such goshawful names as: "The potentiometric titration of telluric acid by titanous sulphate." "The preparation and study of ammonium methylolacrylate." and "Dielectric constants of binary mixtures."

But still some of them have relatively simple titles: "The history of the marketing of— is Malted Milk." and "The duties of a technical co-ordinating secretary for an interior decorator."

"Some Sunday afternoon when you want something light to read, try a review of the action of phenylhydrazine upon thermoquinone, and some of its derivatives," (take a deep breath we're diving again) or "The colorimetric determination of tellurium by reduction of a complex molybdo-tellurate."

The chemistry graduates are not the only heavy title-shooters; take a doctor's thesis, for example: "A comparative study of the toxicity of seven new pentavalent arsenical compounds and their therapeutic value in Trypanosoma brucei infection of rats."—(The doctors win by virtue of their ability to write longer ones and mix expensive words with the ordinary ones.

For the Sunday reading, the reporter chose Zane Grey's latest.

Here's another: "William Wardsworth Is his vocabulary in the sonnets of 1807 and his prose and poetry of 1789" to which the wise-cracking journalist picked up a phrase from a recently popular phonograph record and hurled it at the thesis-titler: "Who cares? Let 'im have th'ol worm!"

Then the reporter started thinking up a lot of trick titles for theses that he'd like to have written, but probably never will, and became so engrossed in a large dictionary that the editor had to finish this item.

RULES SAND IN LAKE BELONGS TO THE STATE

Madison—(AP)—The sand on the bottom of the lake in front of your cottage doesn't belong to you; it belongs to the state.

So the attorney general has ruled in an opinion to L. D. Potter, district attorney of Racine-co.

Owners of lake side property have title only to the shore line, and if they remove sand or soil from under the water of the lake, they may be prosecuted for trespassing.

The legal department is referring to the state railroad commission, which has jurisdiction in such matters, complaint against a man in the town of Caledonia who has been selling land from a beach for commercial purposes, and who has sucked land from under the water of Lake Michigan.

STRONGER AND SLEEPS BETTER

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ogden, Kansas.—"For three or four months before taking the Vegetable Compound I was run-down, didn't feel like doing any work and could not sleep at night. The least thing would upset me. We live on a farm and I have my housework to do but often I could not do it. My mother told me of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her so I am taking it. I am feeling fine, can sleep good and can do my work without getting over-tired. I recommend the Vegetable Compound and will answer letters."—Mrs. LESTER CUMMINGS, Box 331, Ogden, Kansas.

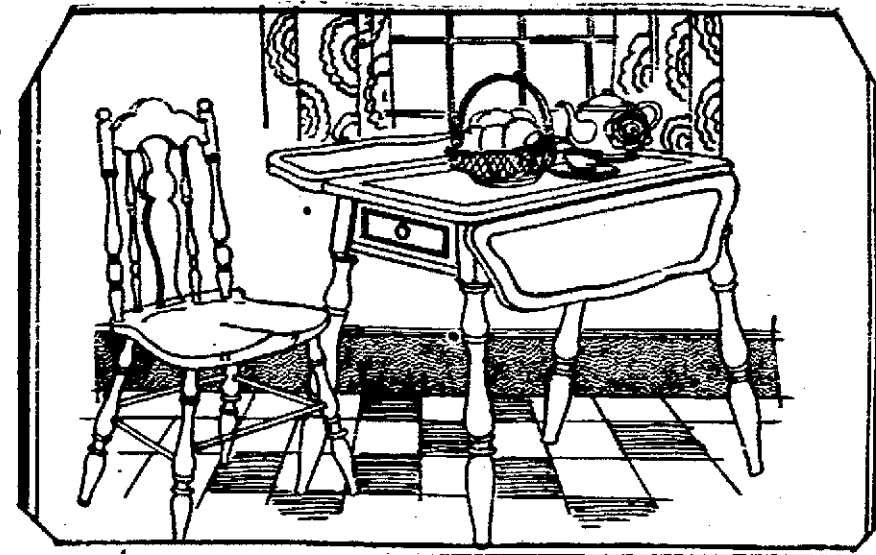

CONNECT UP BATHS AS HOT WEATHER ARRIVES

Hot weather caused people to think of baths, it is indicated by the July report of George Gaustin, city plumbing inspector, presented to the city council Wednesday night and showing that 21 bath tubs and 10 shower-baths had been connected during the month. The report showed that 261 connections had been made, 81 floor drains and 53 water closets leading the list. The report also showed that 63 permits for installing or repairing services from mains had been granted in that time.

FREAK STORM
London—A recent rain storm in Kent fell in torrents over an area of about thirty feet by two miles. Roofs on one side of a road ran with water and those on the other side were perfectly dry.

You'll Find One of Our Breakfast Suites A Great Promoter of Meal Time Cheer

Enjoyable kitchen or summer dining—morning, noon or night—implies the presence of cheer, which emanates from color. Creating cheer for the kitchen and summer dining rooms—or injecting colorfulness, whichever you choose to call it—is no problem at all these days. One simply sets out in search of blithe-colored furniture; and having found it, priced well within reach, orders it for her home. The search is never long, for our suites are interesting in style and color and makes a selection an easy matter.
